Forget Industry Dreams, Pacificans Told

By LOIS McNALLY
Pacific city councilmen were told last week to give up their dreams of lowering the tax rate by attracting industry to Pacifica and "to accept reality."

Edward Maykel, an engineer representing Oddstad Homes, told councilmen at their meeting last week that in his opinion, "this part of the Peninsula will always remain a bedroom community because of lack of access."

Maykel said that industries need to be located close to markets and to suppliers of raw materials. He also pointed out that the erosion of salt air eliminates many types of industry for Pacifica.

Maykel claimed that his firm has tried harder than city officials to attract industry to locate in Pacifica but "it is just no go."

He said that people contact his office daily looking for commercial-industrial sites but they all want Redwood City, Belmont or the San Carlos area.

"A dream is one thing," Maykel told disappointed councilmen, "but reality is something else."

Maykel appeared before the council to ask that an 11-acre Oddstad parcel in Pacific Manor,

Coast Won't Change, Engineer Says

north of the Surfside Manor apartment complex and west of the old coast highway, be zoned for apartment buildings.

The Pacifica Planning commission previously turned down his request, asking that the land be reserved for industrial-commercial use since it is all flat land and located close to the Edgemar freeway.

Al Triffiotti, another Oddstad engineer, said that efforts had been made by the Oddstad organization to attract various businesses, including a motel, discount house, restaurant and factory, to the site but without any success.

When industry along the Bayshore reaches the saturation point in about 20 years, Maykel told councilmen, he personally believes that large residential areas along the bayside, now encroaching into the industrial areas, will be converted before there is any move to the coastside.

He said that cheaper land available on the coastside was far outweighed by the higher cost of operation because of transportation problems and higher maintenance costs.

Asked to comment on Maykel's remarks, Basil Gladieux, manager of Oddstad Homes, said that his office has received a number of inquiries but no requests about a parcel the size of the Oddstad land.

Gladieux said that he had received an inquiry from one businessman who wanted to locate a warehouse for records but that "after he heard about our tax rate, we never saw him again."

The chamber's approach, said Gladieux, is to stress "our large labor market and that we have homes priced right for a labor market."

He said the chamber is still hopeful of attracting some kind of light industry to the city.

Councilman Harland Minshew said it was perhaps time for the council to be more realistic.

"Though we would like industry, the cost of trucking would prohibit industries from coming over here."

Minshew said he did not think that Pacifica with its present tax structure could attract manufacturers and that the people of the community "will just have to face up to this problem." And he added:

"It is a question of whether we go commercial recreation and make use of what we've got, the ocean, fishing, our tourist attractions, or hold out for industry."

Councilman George Mason urged that city officials embark on a more active sales program and sponsor a study of the problem. (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

The Scene of Tragedy

DEATH SCENE — Daly City firefighter Paul De Natale inspects the drain shaft that five-year-old Robert Matson fell into, resulting in his death Sunday. Old-Time Band Concert Set

An old-time community band concert, of the type that once delighted the young and the old in towns across the nation, will be given in the Westlake Shopping Center mall at 1 p.m. Saturday.

The concert will be given by the Daly City Municipal Band under the baton of George Brenner.

For many, the concert should provide a nostalgic remembrance of the day when a community band concert was the entertainment highlight of the week for each family.

A five-year-old Daly City boy fell head-first 20 feet down a drain shaft in Daly City Sunday and was pronounced dead on arrival later at Kaiser Foundation hospital in South San Francisco.

The victim was Robert Matson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Wardo of 11 Santa Elena avenue. The tragedy occurred about 11 a.m.

Deputy county coroner Robert Jensen said a pathology examination showed the boy might have died of asphyxiation. He added that the autopsy was being deferred for further tests.

According to police and firemen, the victim and a younger brother were playing near the shaft, which is in an open field opposite 1449 Southgate avenue. The shaft extends upward out of the ground about three feet. The shaft diameter also is about three feet.

The victim, investigators said, apparently lost his balance and fell into the pipe. The younger brother ran to a nearby house for help. Ronald Presley of 1449 Southgate responded and when he saw Robert at the bottom of the shaft, he called authorities.

Police and firemen quickly converged at the site. Firefighter Paul De Natale climbed down into (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

School Merger Delay Granted

San Mateo county, with 17 other California counties, was granted a one year extension Thursday by the State Board of Education in offering county master plans on reorganized school districts.

The 1959 state legislature's act directing the district reorganization provides that the state education department move in and draft master plans if the counties do not produce the plans themselves.

No state intervention has yet started in any county. Meetings have been held in all San Mateo county school districts.

St. Clair to Leave Daly City's Council

LAST 49ER YEAR

Plans Move To Millbrae

Daly City councilman and San Francisco 49'er tackle Bob St. Clair will move to Millbrae after the first of the year.

In so doing he will vacate a seat on the council he has held since 1958. He has two and one half years left on his present term.

His departure will be the second by a Daly City councilman next year.

Mayor Joseph Verducci, whose term expires in April, is running for the San Mateo county board of supervisors and will not be able to retain his council seat.

St. Clair, who served as mayor from 1961 to 1962, said that domestic reasons have prompted his decision to leave Daly City which has been his home since 1955.

He explained that his wife and family have been insisting on better weather and that his family have outgrown his house at 76 Ocean Grove avenue.

He is the father of five children. Three have been born since he has been a Daly City resident. In addition to moving, St. Clair probably will end his 11-year career with the 49'ers.

He said "this is probably my last year" and that after retirement he will devote full time to three liquor stores he operates. A fourth is being sold.

St. Clair said he is building a house in the Mills Estate area of Millbrae.

Asked whether he would try his hand at city government, he said he has no plans at the moment but "I am always interested in local government."

St. Clair's move would mean that the remaining councilmen would appoint a successor to fill his unexpired term.

The successor would then have an inside track to the post when it is filled again in 1966 by city election.

Daly City councilmen expressed disappointment over St. Clair's decision to leave. "He has made some fine contributions," (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

CHRISTEN LAND MOVE

SSF Schools Ask Boundary Change

The South San Francisco School board, fearful of getting all the children and none of the taxes, moved last week to shed its responsibility in the proposed Christen Ranch development.

Both the Jefferson High school and the Elementary school superintendents said they were "definitely not interested" in taking over the area.

Early plans of the developers of the Christen Ranch call for mostly single family homes to be built in the area that is served by the South San Francisco Unified district.

A huge 73-acre shopping center and high rise apartments will be built just north of the South San Francisco school boundaries.

"They (Daly City) are going to have all the cream and we'll have the crumbs," said trustee Mrs. Joseph Cooper.

The board instructed superintendent Paul Nielsen to contact the county's redistricting committee on changing the boundaries.

The school board made a similar request to the reorganization board last year when annexations and planning were discussed. The request was denied.

An agreement was made several years ago between all the school districts that when the Christen land was developed, the (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Youth Badly Injured in Cliff Tumble

A Daly City teen-ager was critically injured about noon Sunday when he tumbled 75 feet down a cliff above the Old Coast highway, behind Seacrest Community church.

The youth is Millard S. Watson, 18, of 8 Menlo avenue. He was taken to Peninsula hospital with a severe head injury and multiple contusions and abrasions.

The youth was rescued from the foot of the cliff by Daly City firefighters.

According to investigators, the youth and two companions, Terry Wolfer, 18 and his brother, David, 14, of 9 Menlo avenue, were climbing along the cliff when Millard slipped and fell.

The accident was reported to James Taylor, Thornton Beach supervisor, who called firemen. At the time, the exact location of the victim was not known and a search was begun.

Two teams of firemen searched the beach and road area before they found Millard lying at the foot of the cliff, unconscious.

He was carried to a fire department rescue jeep, which took him to a waiting ambulance.

DALY CITY ASKS AID

CHP Won't Help Police Cow Palace

Daly City officials are trying to get the California Highway Patrol to come back to the Cow Palace but the local CHP chief, Capt. John W. Kennedy, said he will have none of it.

For the past 14 years, the patrol has been handling traffic on Geneva avenue during Cow Palace functions. The service was provided free of charge.

But, now that Daly City has annexed the Cow Palace and the area surrounding it, the patrol can no longer operate there, according to Captain Kennedy.

City Manager Edward Frank of Daly City admitted last week that, if the city police department is to handle the traffic there in the manner it has been handled by the highway patrol, it will cause a serious drain on the department's manpower and finances.

Frank and Police Capt. Roy Beecher appeared at a meeting of the Cow Palace board of directors last week and asked the board to go to bat for the city and try to persuade the highway patrol to come back in and help out.

The directors agreed to approach the patrol and ask them to return. The job was turned over to member Robert Mc-Carthy and his committee to work out.

Frank said he would like to have a joint force of Daly City policemen and highway patrolmen working the traffic beat.

But Captain Kennedy said that will not be possible. Before the annexation went through, he said, he told Daly City police that the patrol would have to leave when the area became part of the city.

The CHP, a state agency, cannot go in and enforce local traffic ordinances. Captain Kennedy explained.

When informed that the Cow

Palace directors would try to persuade him otherwise, Captain Kennedy replied:

"Instead, they would have to persuade 120 members of the state legislature."

Edward Diran, the Cow Palace manager, insisted that traffic control under Daly City jurisdiction will not be a serious problem. "It will just take a little time to work things out," he said.

Frank said the city is planning other steps to relieve traffic congestion around the Cow Palace. Several lane changes will be made, he said, so that traffic can get in and out faster and easier.

Recreational Program Set For Bayshore

The Bayshore School district last week turned over operation of its recreational program to Daly City.

The action was taken in the wake of Daly City's annexation of Bayshore last month.

Recreation department officials have informed the district's board of trustees that teen clubs will be organized in the Bayshore area and that a full-fledged recreational program will be instituted.

Natalie Lipman, superintendent of schools, said the district had budgeted $3500 for its recreational program and that this amount would be turned over to Daly City.

She said the district had been running its own program on "a limited basis."

In other action related to the annexation, the district also turned over its crossing guard program to the Daly City Police department.

The department will now be responsible for the school district's two guards at Geneva avenue and Schwerin street and Partridge and Geneva avenues.

Miss Lipman reported to the trustees that the district's custodial staff had refinished 600 desks and 1000 chairs during the summer.

FOR TERRA NOVA

State Allocates Remodel Funds

By LOUANNE HEATH

Edward Morgan, superintendent of the Jefferson Union High School district, reported last week that he had met with considerable success when he sat down with the state allocations board in Sacramento to plead the district's case for funds for remodeling facilities at Terra Nova High school.

School Unity Motion Study Is Requested

Members of the Jefferson Union High school district board of trustees last week were urged to study carefully the reports and sample motion prepared by the San Mateo county committee on school district organization so that the plan may be considered at a meeting of the board Monday.

District Supt. Edward Morgan briefly reviewed the committee's sample motion and its alternatives. He then asked trustees to be prepared to discuss the matter and attempt to reach a unified position prior to the convening of the final meeting of the augmented committee on North county configuration.

This meeting will be at 8 p.m. next Wednesday in the library at Westmoor High school.

Plans to unify the Bayshore, Brisbane, Jefferson and Laguna-Salada Union elementary districts with the Jefferson High school district have met with determined resistance by board members in the past.

Early in May, Board President Elio Fontana and Trustee Lyle Ingersoll stated flatly that they "hated" unification.

Fontana has indicated that he feels that a unification program will not be accepted by the voters of the districts if they are properly apprised of the facts.

In other business, the board learned that it is not always easy to find buyers for used equipment or printers willing to bid on the Jefferson High school reconstruction project.

He told the district's board of trustees that existing state policies do not permit the allocation of funds for projects such as the conversion of the Terra Nova library to a second homeroom room and a teachers' workshop.

In initial talks with the board, Morgan said he was informed that the most the district could expect to receive would be the monetary difference between the construction of a library and a homeroom room or $8766.

The remaining funds necessary to finance the $20,288 project, or a total of $11,522, would have to be provided by the district itself.

Following a general outline of the entire project at Terra Nova and the presentation of audio-visual material prepared for Morgan's Sacramento trip, the allocations board expressed over-all approval of the general program of rehabilitating the facility to accommodate greatly increased enrollment, Morgan explained. And he added:

"The board informed me that while they feel their current policy is a sound one, there are always exceptional cases that warrant special consideration and the consensus of opinion among board members was that this was such a case.

"As a result, they voted to give us the total amount of the project and so instead of only the $8766, we will now receive $20,288."

After Morgan's report, school board president Elio Fontana expressed the board's appreciation for the time and effort Morgan had spent in preparing the district's case. He declared:

"I wish all the taxpayers in the district could know and understand exactly what it means to have a fine administrator such as Edward Morgan."

New Zoning In Bayshore Is Opposed

Two zoning applications, including the first zoning action by the Daly City Planning commission in Bayshore, met with opposition last week.

The Bayshore action, requesting a commercial zoning on property on the north side of Geneva avenue between Calgary and Rio Verde streets, was held over until next meeting when Wayne Liebert, of 88 Calgary street, protested.

The request was filed by Primo R. Repetto of San Francisco, John Digardi of San Francisco, representing Repetto, said the front of the property is proposed for a supermarket and the rear portion for parking.

The county had zoned the property for commercial in front and residential in the rear.

Liebert argued that Calgary and Rio Verde streets are "strictly residential" and narrow and that the only access to the parking lot would be from these streets.

The commission held the application over pending a study of the area.

In the other disputed action, a request by Gus Pedemonte to rezone property on Peoria street and Bellevue avenue from single family to multiple dwelling was passed despite a petition opposing the move by 21 area homeowners.

Mrs. Charles Garry, 482 Wellington avenue and John King, 117 East Vista were present to oppose the rezoning.

Mrs. Garry presented the petition with 21 names and stated she had obtained the names of 100 persons in the area when a similar request was made on a previous occasion.

City Engineer William Chapman said that zoning without proper attention to parking and traffic problems would constitute "a serious planning problem" in the neighborhood.

He suggested that assurances should be obtained from the builder or other land owners that Wellington street be improved or the extension of Lausanne avenue be constructed to handle the traffic problems created by the apartment development.

The commission approved the application but instructed Pedemonte, Chapman and Pedemonte's engineer to review the master plan for this area before the council takes action on the item.

In other action, the commission approved a setback variance application from Karp Properties of San Francisco. The developers had asked for a reduction to seven feet for a front setback.

Chapman said the request had been made because of extremely steep slopes that exist on the property on the west side of Edgeworth avenue between 88th and 89th streets.

The commission also held over a request for a lot variance from Edward Jose, 82 Grandview avenue, from 50 per cent coverage to 52 per cent coverage.

The Westlake Improvement association had endorsed the request before it was sent to the commission. Commissioner Richard Dwyer instructed Chapman to notify the city has never allowed more than a 50 per cent coverage and that in the future, the commission would appreciate receiving the association's comments on lot coverages over 50 per cent in that area.

S.S.F. Schools Seek Change

Hickey boulevard extension would be the dividing line between the South San Francisco district and the Jefferson High and Jefferson Elementary districts.

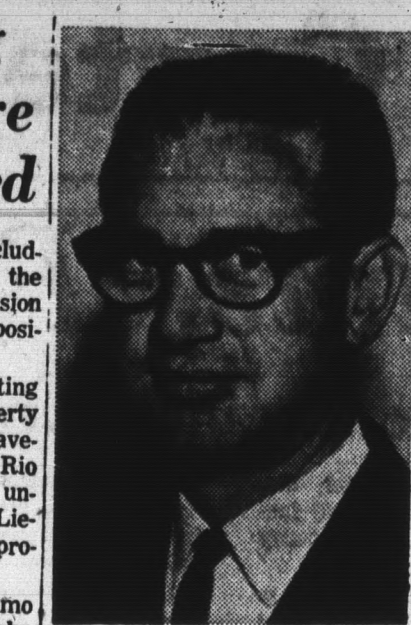

"Our board has always considered providing an education for any reasonable development north of Hickey boulevard," elementary superintendent Richard Foster said. "We have never been interested in the area south of Hickey."

Jefferson High school district superintendent Edward Morgan said, "The lines are there. Any school district must take the school with the bad." And he added:

"We can't condemn the South San Francisco board's intention but I'm sure our board would be opposed to changing the boundaries. Every school board is interested in keeping its assessed valuation high."

Morgan pointed out that Suburban Realty company's decision to annex to Daly City would have no bearing school boundaries.

He said the Jefferson High school district, for example, is made up of four elementary districts—located in Brisbane, Daly City, Pacifica, Bayshore and part of San Bruno.

JACK HANLEY, former superintendent of schools in Sebastopol, is the new director of personnel for the Jefferson Elementary School district. He had been the superintendent in Sebastopol for five years.

Deaths

ROBERT J. CURLEY

Funeral services were held Saturday for Robert J. Curley, 274 Campano avenue, Daly City, who died Tuesday at Mount Zion hospital in San Francisco.

A lifetime native of California, he was active in Local 85 of the Teamsters' union.

Survivors include his wife, Angela; a son, Robert J. Curley Jr.; two daughters, Kathleen and Diane Curley; a brother, William Curley of San Francisco, and three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy de Stefano of San Francisco, Mrs. Ruth Shinn of Petaluma, and Mrs. Rose Marie Pagan of Daly City.

Funeral services were conducted by the Duggan-Serra chapel in Daly City. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery.

FREEMAN (FRED) MORSE

Funeral services for Freeman (Fred) Morse of 6925 Mission street, Daly City, were held last week by the W. C. Lasswell chapel in Daly City.

A native of Michigan, he had lived in California for the past 50 years.

He is survived by his wife, Clara.

Interment was in Golden Gate National cemetery.

tributions to the city in the years he has been on the council," Verducci said. "The council is going to miss him."

Mayor pro tem Michael de Bernardi said, "I'm sorry to see him leave the city. He has put in an awful lot of work for us."

During the five years on the council, St. Clair has built up a reputation for being outspoken. With his giant size (six foot eight inches) and booming voice he has made his presence known in council meetings and Sacramento.

St. Clair played an important role in Daly City's battle in Sacramento to keep the Cow Palace from pushing special legislation enabling it to secede from the city's annexation of Bayshore City.

The bill, in effect, would have invalidated the city's annexation. St. Clair and City Manager Ed Frand spent two days in the state capital persuading key legislators to back the city. The bill was defeated 15 to 1 in committee.

Boy Dies in Shaft Fall

the shaft and when he discovered the boy was not breathing, he began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, investigators reported.

However, because of a lack of oxygen in the confined space, De Natale carried the boy up a ladder that had been lowered and handed the victim to a neighbor, Vincent Sangrevalis of 1481 Southgate and Patrolman Robert Crocker, who resumed mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

A resuscitator was used and De Natale applied external heart massage before a Mercy ambulance arrived and took the boy to Kaiser Foundation hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Daly City Engineer William Chapman said the shaft had been covered at one time but that vandals probably had removed the top. He said the shaft is not a part of the city's system.

The shaft was boarded up immediately after the tragedy was reported.

An investigation later by engineering department personnel determined that the shaft is a "sub drain" used in grading operations.

Chapman said the drain had not been in use recently.

Pacifica Council Orders a Halt in Subdivision Work

Pacifica city councilmen ordered an immediate halt to subdivision work above Terra Nova boulevard last week after residents along the street where a giant blunder crashed into a home a month ago complained work was continuing, despite previous assurances to the council grading had been halted.

Councilmen had assumed the work had been stopped after the city had ordered installation of a chain link fence at the bottom of a cliff as a safety measure.

The city engineer reported to the council he had been told work had ceased.

Residents complained that continuing grading above their homes was creating the possibility another giant boulder might come crashing down into one of their homes.

In other actions last night, councilmen:

Concurred in a citizens' study committee report that no police and fire commission be created.

Scheduled a special meeting for tonight to make appointments to the planning commission and personnel advisory boards.

Awarded a $29,697 contract to Oscar C. Holmes to do repair work at the Capistrano canal in the Linda Mar area.

Proclaimed September 16 to 30 "Mary's Help Hospital Week."

Held for study an appeal by the Oddstad company from a planning commission decision, turning down a major apartment house project near the old Oddstad highway in the northern part of the city.

Concurred in a planning commission decision, refusing Safeway Stores permission to erect a 35-foot high sign at its new market in the Linda Mar area.

Filed a letter from Howard Edminister complaining of a chamber of commerce invitation to the Pacific Gas and Electric company to build an atomic power plant locally.

Endorsed an Association of Bay Area Governments resolution, calling for the preservation of open areas.

Held for study a request from the Millard Hot Rod club for permission to establish a workshop at the Rockaway sewage treatment plant.

Agreed to make a field trip September 21 to sewage treatment plants in Daly City and South San Francisco to examine recently installed sludge centrifuges.

anted by two factors covered by present policy on the use of gas tax funds: special excavation costs and a prorating of engineering costs.

The city manager's report said there could be no change in the standards of the project, that parts of the existing roadway could not be preserved since the present road base is substandard.

He added that changes in the project now could result in no reduction of costs anyway since the project would have to be rebuilt and would be delayed by winter weather.

Cost of the project is now $42,919.

Pacifica Told Motorcyclist Coast Won't Get Industry

lam of attracting industry by a committee composed of representatives from the city council, planning commission, park, beach and recreation commission and the chamber of commerce.

The council approved the idea of forming such a committee—proposing that the committee meet first with Bud Bostwick of the San Mateo Development commission.

Mayor Harold Feyge, commenting on the Maykel application, said he could not conceive of industry going into this particular piece of isolated land, surrounded by apartments and a proposed hospital.

He suggested a high-standard multiple housing development that would not attract families with children that would add to the burden of the school system.

Councilmen agreed to consider a proposal by city attorney Conrad Reich that a new zoning classification be established for apartment houses that would call for a higher ratio of square feet per unit, more open space and other design features attracting a higher proportion of adults.

Why is our nose so stubby?

The VW doesn't need a long front hood because the engine's in back of the car.

This gives you a couple of advantages over the long-nosed jobs.

Obviously, it makes for a shorter car.

So you can move in and out of traffic. And in and out of tight little parking spots.

Your chances of denting a fender in the process are practically nil, too. The VW's short hood lets you look right down your nose at the road.

The point is this: Everything on the VW is there for a reason. Including our changes. Unless you've nosed around VWs for years, you may not be aware of things like our fully synchromesh transmission.

Or our quieter, more powerful engine.

Or our 3,012 other inside improvements.

On the face of it, the VW looks the same; underneath, it's changed.

Which is one reason the VW depreciates so little and stays in style year after year.

Nose and all.

The Post-3

Pacific Parade

By DON MILLER

THERE'S A STORY here in the North county that apparently hasn't had the circulation it more than merits. Or perhaps it has but the message hasn't been absorbed.

Why it has failed so far to stir more enthusiasm is a bit difficult to fathom for when you stop a moment to consider all that's involved, you wonder why our North county folk haven't reacted en masse.

We speak of the story of a hospital — in this case, Mary's Help hospital. Now rising at Junipero Serra boulevard and Eastmoor avenue on what you'd have to conclude is a dramatic hilltop site, the hospital is on its way toward 400 beds.

Four hundred beds, we hastily add, if and ONLY IF the North county gets on the ball. And to date, this hasn't been the case. That is, there hasn't been the reaction to this community-wide project that there has been toward similar undertakings and just why is a puzzler.

For the sad truth is that only some $10,000 of about $600,000 or so donated to the hospital building fund has come from the North county — the very area that stands to gain the most from a new hospital.

For one of the principal reasons this hospital is being constructed practically around the corner from us all lies in a comprehensive study taken by the state some time ago.

That study concluded that no other area throughout the state needed a major league hospital facility more than the North county.

WE HEAR there is no one group more disappointed in this lethargy than the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul — that selfless order of nuns who will operate the hospital as they now do the present Mary's Help in San Francisco.

Sure, they're delighted that some $600,000 has been raised (the goal is $1,500,000) but at the same time they're disheartened over the North county's participation.

From the beginning, Mary's Help has been planned as a community hospital — not a Catholic hospital — but a hospital that would administer to the needs of the entire community regardless of how a person worshipped or what the color of his skin happened to be.

So, identification with the community has been one of the foundations of the project and what better way, logically, to build this foundation than to have the entire community pitch in? The fact there hasn't been much pitching is the reason for concern.

For unless $1,500,000 is raised, Mary's Help will have 250 beds — not 400. That's not a threat but the reluctant word from hospital drive officials.

Why $1,500,000?

The financing of the hospital runs like this: The minimum financial investment needed to build a hospital of the caliber of Mary's Help will be has been estimated at $8,350,000.

Of this, $3,800,000 will come from matching state and federal funds. A bank has agreed to loan another $1-million. To these funds, the Daughters of Charity have added $2,058,000, which represents the limit of their available resources.

That leaves the $1,500,000 to be raised from the community at large.

WELL, all these fund drive reverses are apparently due for a vigorous counterattack on several fronts, we're happy to report today.

On the first front, the Daly City Rotary club has galvanized its membership into action and each member will take three pledge cards around to his friends and neighbors.

On a second front, the Daly City-Colma Lions club is mounting a strong offensive with plans for a fund-raising extravaganza — a giant star-studded benefit stage show in the Cow Palace — all proceeds of which will be turned over to the hospital building fund.

Planning of the show is now in the early stages but the club says it should be coming up with a date and a bevy of stars soon.

On another front, a Daly City headquarters for the fund drive will be opened in Temple Judea's building at 95 South Mayfair avenue. And, to boot, the distribution of store window display cards, asking for community support, is being stepped up.

Now at this point we can almost hear you ask: "That all sounds fine but just exactly how can we help?"

With both your pocketbook and your time. The Mary's Help campaign committee needs 350 more volunteers to distribute pledge cards. This is a vital function of the campaign, officials explain, and whether it operates smoothly — and quickly — could make or break the whole business.

If you can become such a volunteer, you're invited to attend any weekly meeting of the fund drive committee.

Meetings are held at 8 p.m. Tuesdays at Our Lady of Mercy church hall at 1 Elmwood drive in Daly City.

As for your contributions, they may be sent to Mary's Help Building Fund drive at the present Mary's Help hospital at 145 Guerrero street in San Francisco.

Now let's show these dedicated hospital people that the North county IS interested in its community hospital and that all this talk about falling down on the job is just a pail of hogwash.

A POINT WELL TAKEN — Charles Beasley, the big chief of the San Mateo County Business Bureau, made an excellent point the other day that bears repeating.

In a talk to the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, Beasley said the bureau has no power to tell a company it doesn't approve of to do this or to do that.

No, that isn't the way things work. The bureau's job is to inform the county's business community (upon request) about a new operation once it shows its face in the county.

If the new bureau concludes the new face is a somewhat tarnished face, then it's up to you and I and the store down the street to avoid doing business with the newcomer.

For only through this sort of combined action will a shady operation with a shoddy product be quickly eased out of the county.

All of which is a way of saying that when the BBB casts a dour and disapproving glance at a new product, company or service, why then it's time we, too, did a bit of frowning — and boycotting.

Campaign Talk

CAMPAIGN TALK — "Their reluctance to beg and their passion for anonymity makes fund raising for the Daughters of Charity a tough job indeed," Chief Federal District Judge George B. Harris (right, above) told a joint meeting of the Daly City and South San Francisco Serra clubs at the California Golf club Friday. Judge Harris discussed the current Mary's Help building fund campaign, of which he is a co-chairman. The Daughters of Charity will operate the hospital. Pictured with Judge Harris is Elmer McGraw, president of the Serra club.

DRIVE LAGGING

Hospital Bed Space Might Be Cut Back

The Mary's Help hospital fund drive in Daly City has taken on "an emergency aspect," Federal Judge George B. Harris told the Daly City council last week. Harris, chairman of the board of governors of the hospital, said that unless more funds came in, the hospital projection of 400 beds would have to be cut to 250 beds.

The original goal for contributions from the Daly City-South San Francisco-Pacific area was $900,000. The hospital is expected to cost $9 million.

Funds collected in this area had not reached six figures, Harris said.

Most of the funds that had been collected had come from San Francisco.

"We in San Francisco feel we're losing a hospital," Harris said. "We haven't any prospect of benefiting from it at all."

He said the donations from residents in San Francisco, about $600,000, are a "way of thanking the Daughters of Charity for what they have done for us."

The hospital has recently discharged its 100,000th charity patient.

Harris explained the hospital had been relocated in Daly City because the North county area needs hospital facilities more than any other area in the state.

The Daughters of Charity drew from assets of $2 million and borrowed another $1 million from the Bank of America to finance the hospital.

Another $1.9 million was received from the state and a similar amount was given by the personnel board.

Only $1.5 million was needed from contributions.

In other action, the council approved a resolution approving the Colma Creek Food Control district plan submitted by the San Mateo county board of supervisors.

Daly City had previously rejected the plan on the grounds the benefits received by the city would not be in proportion to the cost of the project.

An amendment to the act permitting the formation of food control districts was passed by the state legislature recently which allows the formation of subzones.

The subzones would bear costs in proportion to benefits.

The Christen ranch lands and a portion of the southern part of Daly City would be affected.

South San Francisco would bear the major part of the cost.

Mayor Pro-Tem Michael DeBernardi was nominated to serve on the county Greater Highways committee, which has been made a formal committee of the county government.

In other action the council—

Referred a request for higher salaries for city employees to the personnel board.

FOR MARY'S HELP

Pacifica Plans a One-Day Canvass

In a massive city-wide one-day canvass, Pacificans have to raise $75,000 to help build Mary's Help hospital.

At a planning meeting last weekend, members of the city's Committee of One-Hundred, charged with leadership of the fund-raising effort, set Thursday, October 10 for soliciting both businesses and homes throughout the city.

A central campaign headquarters will be established that day at city hall.

Chairman of the Pacifica drive is councilwoman Jean Fessler, who is on the Mary's Help hospital board of governors.

Working with her are Mrs. William Drake and Mayor Harold Feegey who are members of the hospital's central campaign committee.

Mrs. Drake said the $75,000 goal represents an average of about $10 for the approximately 7000 homes in Pacifica.

She told campaign workers meeting Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Rosenberg's at 280 Angelita street, to remind people that Mary's Help hospital "is our chance to have a first class general hospital within the city."

TRANSMISSION TAKEN

Schmidt Motors at 7101 Mission street, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that a V-8 transmission had been stolen from an auto, parked in the company's lot.

TABLES TAKEN

George Clark of 996 Brunswick street, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that thieves had stolen two cocktail tables from the front of his house. He said they were valued at $40.

reach and may mean saving the lives of some of our children." Mrs. Drake pointed out the hospital will be open to doctors and patients of any religious denomination.

The Mary's Help drive will be a capital funds campaign, not the start of a yearly appeal, Mrs. Drake explained to campaign workers.

"We will be looking for people willing to make substantial three-year pledges but we'll also be grateful for the $1 and $5 gifts."

Also helping on the drive are Rosenberg, Lou Lorenz of 650 Heather court; Mrs. Bernard Hyman of 636 Standish road, and Mrs. Fred Stearns of 210 Springdale drive.

YEARS WERE both literally and figuratively added to this columnist's life when we attended the recent Wayne Thormon-Jose Menlo card at Kezar pavilion.

A year was added literally, because, by a coincidence, the fight fell on the eve of our birthday.

Years were added figuratively because of the appearances on the supporting card of Hal Derouen and Henry Barrera.

Regular readers of this column — of which there may be none — perhaps remember our writing of Barrera about a year ago, recalling the days when he was the wet-nosed little neighborhood pest of our youth.

As you can imagine, seeing a full grown Henry banging another grown man into submission (he collected a fourth round TKO on tough Frank Souza), not only tended to make us feel much older, but also caused us to hope that Henry, now quite a cordial fellow, would not suddenly remember that we several times booted his backside when he was too small to defend himself.

Derouen, who, primarily because of rustiness caused by a long lay-off, lost on a TKO to James Lester, also recalled memories of our earlier teaching days at Mission High school.

Hal was never in any of our classes but we got to know him quite well when assigned one semester to lunch hour cafeteria and hall duty.

Our main duty was to keep order and we possibly never would have been able to cut the mustard were it not for Hal.

He was a member of the Mission Block Society — we believe they called themselves "Men of Mission" — a student order committee made up of athletes who performed the school service of assisting in keeping order at rallies, assemblies and during lunch hour.

Derouen was in charge of the lunch hour order group and his was perhaps the best run organization in the school.

Having already had three or four professional fights, Hal had merely to walk down the hall and out to the front of the building to produce suddenly immaculate halls and building fronts.

Ironically, he never raised his voice, never got tough, and was generally friendly to all. He was just a nice, quiet, respectable boy who commanded respect from his peers because he was responsible, fair, and tough without acting tough.

We don't know whether nice but tough Hal Derouen will ever win a championship or even get out of the preliminaries. But we hope he fights long enough to prove to some people that the fight game can be respectable.

But not long enough to make us feel any older.

ALVIN DARK, last week, exhibited poor taste, judgment and classic pass-the-buckism when he berated pitcher Bob Bolin for throwing a two-strike base-hit pitch to weak-hitting Howie Goss. The hit kept a rally going which enabled Houston to beat the Giants in one of our boys' familiar late inning lapses.

Bolin had pitched a magnificent game going into the tenth inning, having allowed only six hits and one earned run while striking out 13. He had been betrayed by the usual lax Giant play, including a ridiculous piece of base running by Felipe Alou, who tried to stretch a single into a double and was thrown out. Had he stayed on first, he would subsequently have scored and Bolin would have won.

Dark said that physical errors were a part of the game (the 45's rally started when Chuck Hiller dropped a routine pop fly), but that mental errors were inexcusable.

This seems a reasonable enough attitude to take. What we can't understand, however, is why Alvin had nothing to say about Alou's fancy bit of base running. And, if he considers a "good pitch" a mental error, then why is it he had no comment on the game-winning homerun ball Don Larsen immediately threw to Bob Aspromonte upon relieving Bolin. Could relieving Bolin have been a "mental error" on Dark's part?

Both Goss and Aspromonte are mere .200 hitters so it seems to us that Larsen's sin would then have to be considered much larger than Bolin's, who, after all, had at least proven for nine innings that he could get people out.

Nor can we understand Dark's past failure to criticize Giants who can't yet punt, after several years in the majors, or throw to the right bases, or who don't even know enough, when running bases, to look to base coaches for help.

Alvin Dark got all of the credit for Dodger mistakes last year. The least he should be willing to do is accept the responsibility for Giant mistakes this year.

THEY ALWAYS say that a coach or manager is only as good as his material. But every once in a while, an individual comes along who can totter maxims. It's probably too early to tell now but it looks as if Al Davis, hustling new coach, general manager and perhaps Messiah of the Oakland Raiders, could be one of those individuals.

Tigers to Start Almost New Team

New Coach Will Guide Terra Nova

By RON BATES

THE TERRA NOVA Tigers will start the 1963 football season with a new coach and almost a completely new team.

Gene McKamey, a former Humboldt State college star and head coach at South Fork High school near Eureka for the past three years, will step into the football wars as the second year of the North Peninsula league gets under way.

McKamey replaces last year's NPL Coach of the Year Floyd Gonella, who has stepped up as dean of boys at the coastsides school.

With only one starter and five other lettermen to work with, this season would have to be tabbed as a "completely total rebuilding" year for the Tigers, McKamey said.

"We'll have a complete changeover of both offensive and defensive systems."

Of his six returning lettermen four are backs and two are ends. The line otherwise will be completely devoid of experience. The returning first stringer is end Marty Coll, one of quarterback Manuel Pick's prime targets last year. Coll is slated to see plenty of action on the receiving end of the Tigers' aerial attack.

On the firing end of the passes will be senior Mike Blagrove, who was the number two man at quarterback last year.

It was Pick's signal calling that moved the Tigers into a second place tie with South San Francisco and earned him a berth on the second string of the All-NPL team.

Junior Mike LaFontaine will back up Blagrove this year. Blagrove will have veteran Dave Archibald as his other main target on the line.

THE TIGERS' ground attack is untested yet but veterans Tony Salvemini, Larry Jenkins and Russ Union will give the new coach something to work with. All three are lettermen who saw limited action last year.

"I'll know better what the players can do after I see them under pressure in a ball game," McKamey said. "There is no way to judge their strength now."

Missing from the backfield will be all-league fullback Dennis Caruthers and all-league halfback Fred Mason.

McKamey will change his offensive tactics to blend with his available personnel. He had previously used what he called a "fly-T," a unique formation that was designed to take maximum advantage of passing ability and speed. With the Tigers, he will use a wing-T formation.

Dodgers Hold Annual Picnic

Rock Kubowitz's PAL Dodgers will have their annual picnic Sunday at Flood park.

The affair is being sponsored this year by Councilman Bob St. Clair, former Daly City Juvenile Officer George Brooks, and Frank Davidson, owner of the Westlake Lounge.

SATURDAY NIGHT

CSM Opens Season Against San Joaquin Delta in S.S.F.

The renewal of a 25-year old college football rivalry will be a feature of College of San Mateo's 1963 football opener with San Joaquin Delta (Stockton) college at South San Francisco high school's Clifford field Saturday night at 8.

The Bulldogs, who began playing football 41 years ago, started the Stockton series in 1938 and won the first three games, although the Mustangs lead in the overall series with 10 wins to seven for San Mateo and two ties.

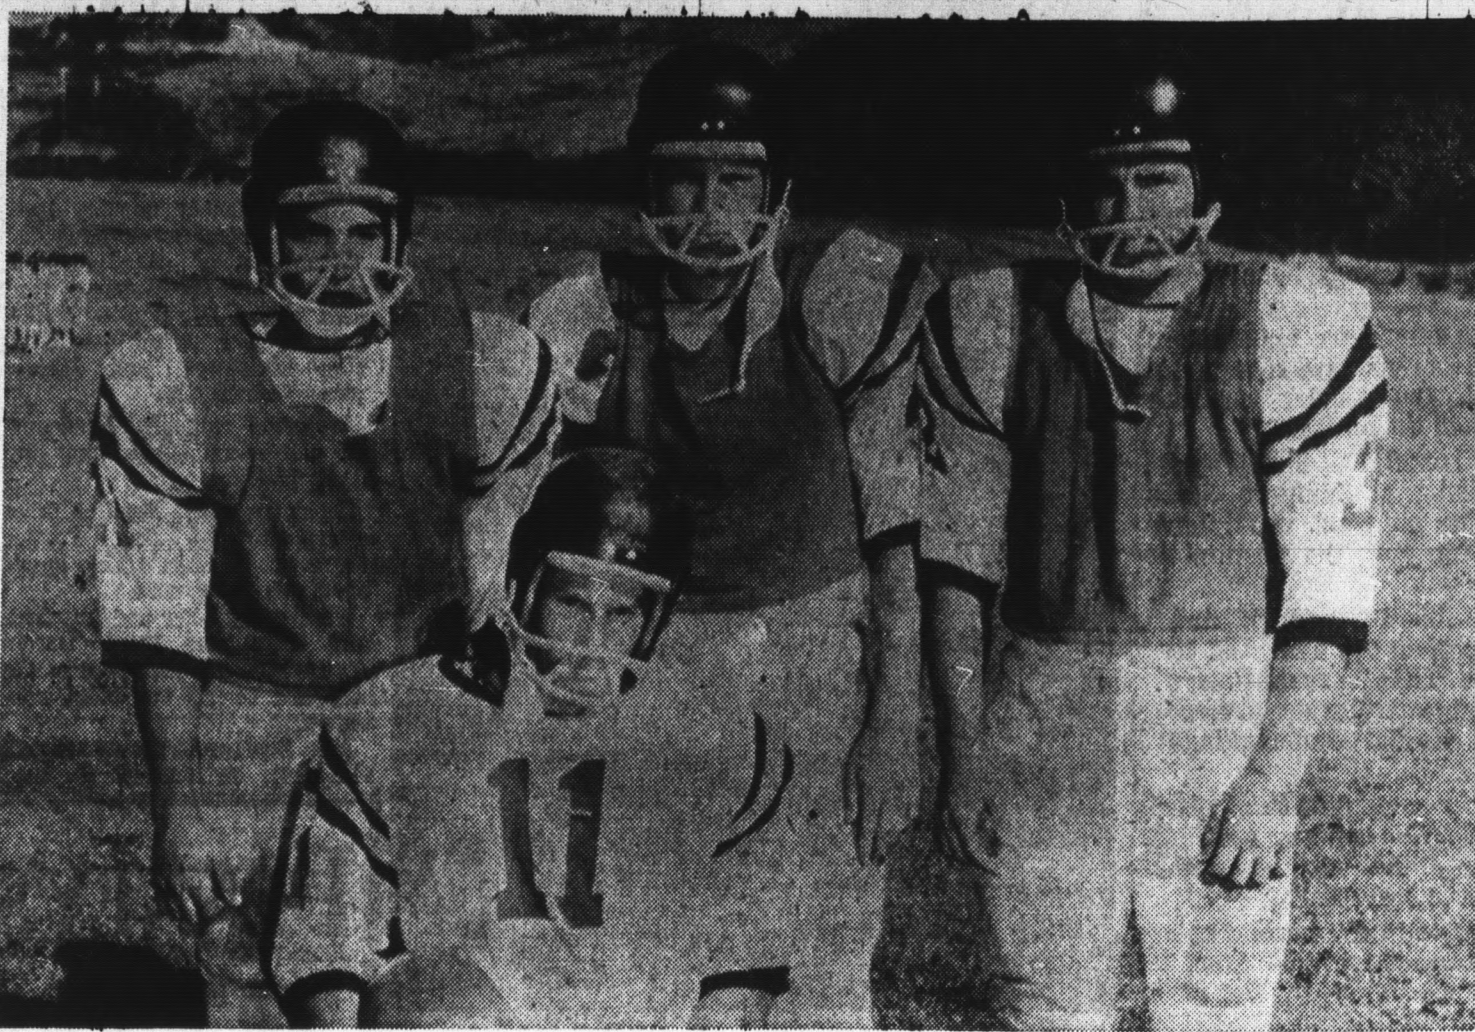

The Golden Horseshoe trophy competition for the annual winner began in 1956 and after Stockton won the first three games, San Mateo came back to hold the trophy the last four years, including a 42-22 victory last season.

New San Mateo head coach Cliff Giffin hopes for another victory Saturday night over the recently renamed Mustangs of the Valley conference who are now officially San Joaquin Delta college instead of Stockton college.

But Giffin's worried since SJD's defensive line averages 230 pounds. "They're big and strong," he claims, "and will provide a good defensive test for us."

Giffin watched San Joaquin lose a 36-0 squeaker in its opener with Coalinga of the Central conference last Saturday.

Veteran Mustang tackle Jim Smith, a 23-year-old who tips the scales at 245 pounds and stands 6-3, leads the SJD line. Other notables in the Stockton line-up include Mike Noack, a 1960 half-back letterman who has been made a quarterback "to lend experience to the guidance of the

OFFENSIVE BACKFIELD — Mike Blagrove, kneeling, will be the field general when the Tigers hit the field Friday in a home stand against Oakland Technical High. Blagrove's company in the backfield will include, left to right, Larry Jenkins, Russ Union and Gil Mullen. Blagrove was the number two quarterback behind Manuel Pick last season. (Post-Times Photo)

One of McKamey's big problems will be the line. Lost via the graduation route last June were all-league linemen Dan Gentry, Bob Mull and Bob Pettit, and honorable mention players Mike Lally and Gary Prince. Lyle Hirsch and Larry Grimes will handle the centering chores, while Mike Ritchie, Bruce Childers and Stan Miller will see action at tackle.

Stan Childers and Russ Whalen will hold down the guard slots. The Tigers have a good guard prospect in Russ Aurebach who is out with an injury now but is expected to be healthy by the time the coastsides open league play.

At the ends, besides Coll and Archibald, are John Bonner, Ron Coleman and Len Hirsch. Also slated to see action in the backfield is Gil Mullen.

THE TIGERS BENCH will be somewhat thin in comparison to other teams in the league. Twenty-eight have made the varsity team.

McKamey will be aided in his coaching duties by Al Figone and volunteer coach Van Buren. Because he is new to the league, McKamey is unwilling to predict how he expects the league to wind up.

The Tigers will open October 18 in a home tilt against last year's champion and pre-season favorite Westmoor High. They will end it against a tough South San Francisco team in an away game.

Oakland Technical is the Tigers' first opponent at 3 p.m. Friday on the Terra Nova field.

Playboys Take Adult Lob Title

The Daly City Playboys took the Adult Lob Ball league title in a 7-6 game with the Daly City Internationals.

Charles Vincent, director of recreation, got the game off to a bang up start with a long blast over the leftfielder's head to score the first run.

The Internationals came back and scored two runs to take the lead.

With Alan Boyd and Mike Jaramillo on base, Jack Campbell singled, scoring Boyd and Jaramillo, then scored himself on International errors to make it 4-4.

The Playboys scored again 5-4 and added two more runs when Vincent came in on Jaramillo's homerun to right field. In the bottom of the sixth, the Internationals tied again on a Playboy error 7-5.

The first two Internationals batters were put down by Paul "Golden Arm" Crowley but then the Internationals exploded with a barrage of hits but the Playboy defense held them to a single run. Pete Herames, centerfielder for the Internationals, was excellent on defense. He robbed Playboy batters of several hits. Gary Attil stood out at third base for the Playboys.

The Playboys voted Alan Boyd the most valuable player of the year award at a banquet held after the game.

Club Honors PAL Dodgers

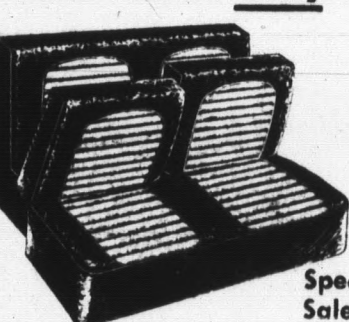

Leo Giorgetti, president of the PAL Dodgers Fan club, hosted the team at one of San Francisco's noted restaurants, the Iron Horse.

The dinner was in recognition of the performance of the PAL Dodgers during the 1963 baseball season. After winning the championship in the Intermediate league, the Dodgers moved up to the Junior division in mid year.

At the dinner, the team received their first place award ribbons from the Daly City Recreation department. Richard Brewer, president of the Daly City Police Athletic league congratulated the team while Giorgetti spoke to the boys on the value of academic endeavor as well as physical endeavor. Following dinner at the Iron Horse, the team spent the evening bowling at the popular Westlake bowl.

Sea Bowl

YOU CAN certainly tell summer is coming to an end when you see all of the familiar faces returning for their winter league bowling. This is one of the busiest seasons in the bowling business, and the most exciting.

We want to welcome all the new people that have recently joined both the day and night leagues. Bowling is really a wonderful sport and very good for the waistline, so they tell me.

Saturday looked like opening day at the circus. Children were oozing out of every nook and cranny, as this was the first day of the junior bowling program. Our second set of free bowling instructions will be September 24. Bantams at 9:30 a.m. and juniors at 11:30 a.m.

League results: Monday Yawners: The A-Del Roofing team's Shirley Cole bowled high series for the day, 178-490. Lenore Lewis of the same team rolled high game of 191. Aquanots: This league completed their summer bowling with California Trophy in first place and Original No. 1 Pizza second. Connie Silvas won the sweeps with a 628. Bev Gonzalez close behind, with a 627. High game award went to Arletta Ackerman. High series award went to Lois Talbot, 529. Most improved bowlers were Vi Zahniser and Fran Gomez.

MERMAIDS started their winter league bowling with Melba Carvalho taking high series of 159-424. Cecelia Laperia came up with high game of the day with a 161. Kegleretts' high series and game 215-574 went to Sharon McGuinness, a really good woman bowler. Sharon is on the Mac's Auto Repair team. Carol Allen bowled a 193-493.

Stardusters: Marie Pierce was the high series gal of her league with a 213-537. High game of 225 went to Fran Roe. Beachcombers: Ron Jodsaas rolled the high series of 220-634. Guess he's still warmed up from last week. High game went to Jim Gilbride, 221. The 3-7-10 pins were picked up by Myrt McAdams. Come on Myrt, tell us your secret!

Kings and Queens: Back all suntanned and healthy looking for their first night of league play for the winter season. Pete Thomas was the star with a 214-593 series. High game of 234 was bowled by Kelly Ellefson.

Sea Bowlerettes: Children back in school and raring to go for their winter bowling. Fran Neibert polished off the first turkey. Betty Thomas took both high game and series with a 180-516. Tavern: Emil Hill must have really put the whammy on the ball, as he chalked up the high game and series for the night with a 232-583. Games worthy of mention: George Keefe, 214. Gene Morgan, 208. Barney Bates, 207.

Westlake Bowl

ART MESSIER provided the excitement on opening night of the 815 Scratch league as he found the pocket consistently and rolled a 278 third game. Bill Boettcher took high series honors with 619 and a 233 high game.

As the Standard Oil Home Office league took off for the winter, Ted Pallas took leading man honors with a 235 game and 648 series.

Monday marked opening day of the Fourth Annual Westlake Bowl Team Handicap tournament with guaranteed prizes of $750 first, $500 second and $400 third. There are also guaranteed special prizes of $100 each for high scratch team game and series. Open to ladies for the first time, it is expected that there will be many ladies and mixed teams competing.

DORIS CUNNINGHAM was the leading lady in the Evening Stars league as the ladies started the winter season. Doris rolled a 174 game and 489 series.

Registration Day found hundreds of boys and girls coming to Westlake to join one of the Saturday morning junior leagues. There are still openings for boys and girls in all the leagues, which start Saturday morning.

ROGER ROZZANO led his French Brothers team and the entire 825 Scratch league on opening night as he rolled a 223 game and 584 series.

AS THE Ladies' 810 Classic started the winter season with ten teams, Pat Viehweg led the strike parade with a 228 game and 589 series.

Opening night jitters didn't bother Isabel McPherson and John Ferrara as they led the Southgate Mixed Fives — Isabel with 211-254. John with 214-558.

George Belles led the Early Fives for the week with a 212 game and 580 series.

Westlake welcomed a new mixed fives league as Milt Jones led the men with 194 and 553 while Vicki Gonzalez topped the ladies with a 160 game and 429 series.

Ernie Spencer's 195 game and 561 series led the sixteen team Country Club handicap for the week.

In another sixteen-team league, John Risso took top honors as he led the Golden Gate handicap with a big 236 game and 587 series.

Joe Donehue started on the comeback trail with a 192 game and 554 series as he led the 805 Scratch league.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

WITH SCHOOLS full and noisy and homes empty and quiet, mothers can take time to consider the baking and making of some treats. And treats are badly needed to fill up those little extra spaces in the lunch boxes. After all, kids can't live on bread alone, can they? And they don't want to either. So this week we'll talk about cookies and a wonderfully easy cake that's a real delight to make and eat.

This first recipe comes from Mrs. Lena Gerst of 1558 33rd avenue, San Francisco, and has been a favorite in her family for years. These cupcakes have all the advantages: easy to make, use nuts, raisins and rolled oats, simple to bake in cupcake papers, sweet but not too sweet and don't need to be frosted. What more can you ask?

DO-FUNNIES

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup sour milk
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cups rolled oats
- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream sugar and shortening, add eggs. Measure and sift dry ingredients and add these to creamed mixture alternately with sour milk. Finally, add the rolled oats, raisins and chopped nuts. Bake in cupcake papers and bake in 350-degree oven about 25 minutes. Test for doneness.

THESE FILLED COOKIES have appeared in my cookie jar many times over the years since I first tasted them. And they came from a room mother at my son's school.

FILLED COOKIES

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 1/2 teas. salt
- 1 teas. vanilla
- 1 egg
- 1 and 2-3 cup flour

Cream the shortening and sugar, add egg and beat well. Mix in salt and vanilla. Add sifted flour. Blend well, and drop on lightly greased cookie sheet. Shape into flat cookie with a depression in the center. Build up the sides of this depression so it will hold in the jelly or jam you put in the center. I usually use two kinds of jam, making some with a berry jam and the others with an apricot or peach jam. Variety is the spice . . . so they say.

THIS CAKE is a real joy. It makes a large cake, rich and spicy and quite inexpensive. I knew that it would be good for it was a junior winner in a grand national baking contest a few years ago. It was recommended to me by Mrs. Sherrill Banks of Pleasure Ridge Park, Ky.

ALASKA MINCEMEAT CAKE

- 1 package dry mincemeat
 - 2 cups water
 - 1 3/4 cup sugar
 - 3/4 cup shortening
- Place the dry mincemeat, broken in pieces, in a large saucepan. Bring to a rolling boil; boil 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; cool.
- 3 3/4 cups sifted flour
 - 2 teaspoons soda
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup nuts, chopped

Sift the dry ingredients together and add to the cold mincemeat mixture; mix well and stir in nuts. Turn into 9 or 10-inch tube pan, well greased and lightly floured on the bottom only. (To make sure it won't stick, I also put one layer of wax paper on the bottom.) Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees; 60 to 70 minutes for 9-inch cake; 55 to 65 minutes for a 10-inch cake. Cool in pan about one hour before turning out. Cool thoroughly (about 6 hours) and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar before slicing.

VFW Auxiliary Member Honored

Mrs. Tom Walsh, chaplain of the South San Francisco Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary 4103, has received a citation for her work with young people.

In 1964, Mrs. Walsh organized and trained a group of 13 girls in precision marching. The group now totals 35.

The organization has won more than 300 trophies and $500 in cash prizes.

The award to Mrs. Walsh was the 1963 Gold Citation of the state VFW auxiliary. In addition, the state group awarded a youth activity citation to the 12th District VFW, which includes Auxiliary Post 4103.

Cub Scout Pack 248 Sets Meet

Cub Scout pack 248 will hold its first meeting of the 1963-64 year at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Fernando Rivera school in Westlake Park. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

All Cub Scouts and parents who are already registered with pack 248 are urged to attend the meeting.

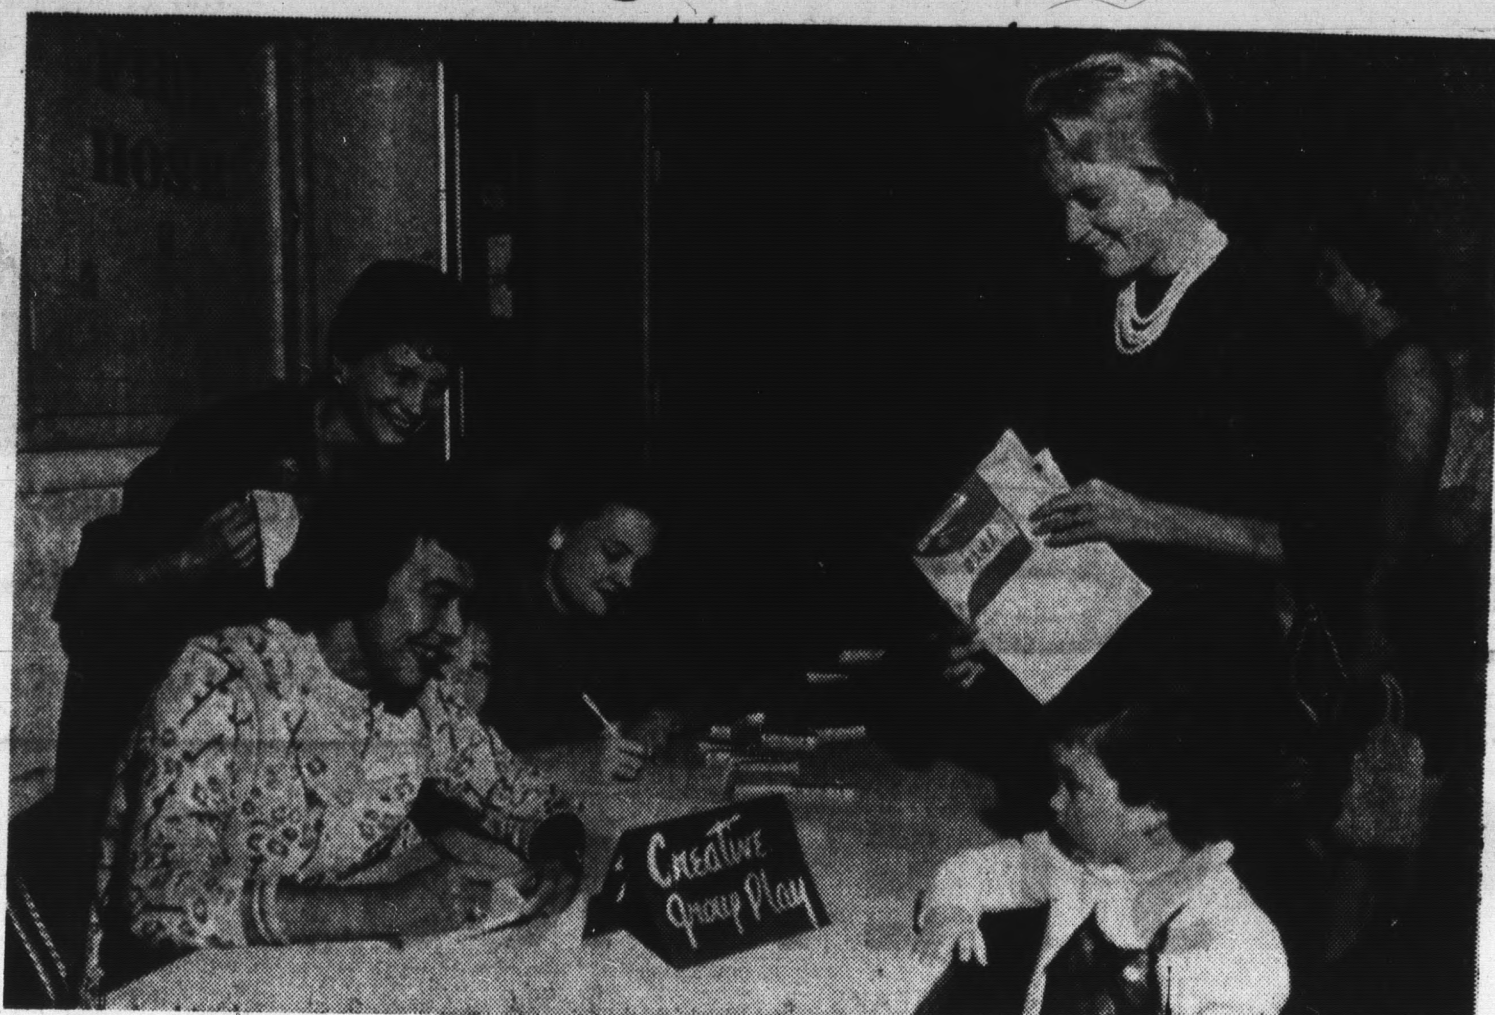

All boys who are 8 years old, and would like to become a member of pack 248, are invited to attend the meeting and bring their parents along.

Further information may be obtained from the registration chairman, Dr. Sanford A. Marcus, at PL 6-8020.

Its' Registration Time

YWCA OPEN HOUSE — Mrs. Paula Schwerin and her daughter Laurie, sign in for a class at an open house held by the YWCA at Westlake Park clubhouse last week. YWCA volunteer workers Doris Fox, Virginia Church and Marcia McGuirk handle the registration chores. Miss Church presided over the open house as the new director of the North San Mateo county YWCA. (Post-Times Photo)

Y Groups Plan 1st Meetings

The San Mateo County YWCA will launch its fall program of group and club activities next week, according to Virginia Church, director.

According to Miss Church, the Tuesday bowling league, which held an organizational meeting last week, will lead off the season Tuesday morning when the ladies gather at 9:30 a.m. in Westlake Bowl.

Also beginning new programs Tuesday will be the Daly City Y-Wives and the Pacifica Y-Wives.

The Daly City group will meet in their new quarters in Lincoln Park at 10 a.m. until noon.

The newly reactivated Pacifica branch will also meet from 10 a.m. until noon in the Oddstad Park clubhouse.

The Daly City group will expand its agenda and program this year to make full use of two rooms and a kitchen now available to them, Mrs. Edward Raymond, club leader has announced.

Next Wednesday both the Daly City and Pacifica Wednesday Bridge clubs will meet. Miss Church said both groups will meet and play from 9:30 a.m. until noon. The Daly City club will meet in the War Memorial building and the Pacifica group will gather in the Sea Bowl.

The Friday Bridge club will begin September 27, meeting, as before, in Westlake Bowl from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

Although YWCA membership is required for all groups and clubs, in most cases non-members are permitted to visit once. Miss Church urges interested persons to call the YWCA at PL 6-7370 for more details.

Open House Program Opens YWCA Season

The San Mateo YWCA entertained approximately 300 women Thursday morning when its annual open house and registration day was held in the Westlake clubhouse, according to YWCA County Director Virginia Church.

Mixed bouquets of flowers graced the tables as volunteer workers met with YWCA members, and prospective members to discuss this year's program of clubs, groups and classes and to conduct registration for the various activities.

Mrs. Lucy Schulte, executive director of the San Francisco YWCA (of which San Mateo YWCA is a unit) and Mrs. Jack Kendree, Mrs. Julian Cohn and Mrs. Herbert Weiner of the Daly City Friends of the Library were honored as special guests. The Haggstroms, a dance team, currently considering offering a couple's dance class under the auspices of the YWCA, also was honored.

Helping Miss Church with the registration were Mrs. Nancy Battaglia, of the Wednesday Bridge club; Mrs. Doris Fox, co-ordinator of the creative play group; Mrs. Susan Boyd, of the area membership committee; Mrs. Dorothy Orton, Mrs. June St. Peter, member at large; Mrs. Marsha McGuirk, program planning chairman; Mrs. Rose Mary Rau; Mary deWitt, area committee chairman; Norma

Club Tea Hosts 120

The lovely Vallera home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosenberg was the setting for the annual Federated Women's Club's Membership Tea Sunday afternoon.

Approximately 120 guests gathered in the Rosenberg home to enjoy the elegant tea, stroll in the newly re-landscaped garden area and to discuss the organization, which has, as its main goal, the financing of two scholarships to be given annually to local students.

Mrs. Jackie Torres was chairman of the tea and assisting her were Mrs. Florence Lorenz, Mrs. Billie Bash, Mrs. Helen Menchew, Mrs. Lola Beall, Mrs. Bernetta McKay, Mrs. Dorothy Matson, Mrs. Dorothy Hayle, Mrs. Barbara Johnson and Mrs. Fay Mendez.

Special guest of the tea was

Maj. Alice Holberg, stationed at the Presidio in San Francisco.

Mrs. Edna McDonald was in charge of the decorations which included a glorious spray of white stocks mixed with glossy greens and on the main table some striking gilded thistle in another arrangement in the family room.

Every room in the house was filled with the scent and color of flowers. Mrs. McDonald used everything from tiny pink rose buds to bold snapdragons in a glowing autumn shade.

Pouring for the affair was done by Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, Mrs. Roland Finken, and Mrs. Bernard Ross, representing the Fifty Plus club, the American Association of University Women and Mizpah, respectively.

Also, Mrs. Alice Uriarte, Mrs.

Wilma Burton and Mrs. Edy Ashworth, all members of the Federated Women's club.

According to Mrs. Torres, prospective members who attended the tea were given membership applications. If they desire, they may become members of the club during the annual induction ceremony later this fall.

"We hope the women of the area know, however," Mrs. Torres said, "that it is not necessary for one to be invited to tea to join. We are most anxious to have anyone interested in our group come to one of our meetings and they can receive an application for membership."

"Our group meets the third Tuesday of each month in the library of Terra Nova High school beginning at 8 p.m. and visitors are very welcome," Mrs. Torres concluded.

State College Announces Theatre Season Plays

San Francisco State college will present six major productions for the Subscription series during the theatre season.

Opening October 11 is Henri de Montherlant's "Queen After Death." This brilliant play of Renaissance Portugal is in the permanent repertoire of the Comedie Francaise and has played successfully in England and on the Continent. The production is the result of long negotiations with M. de Montherlant who seems to prefer academic to commercial staging.

On November 8th, the "Tony" award-winning play "J. B." by Archibald MacLeish. J. B., a modern Job, is the central character in a play that . . . may well become one of the lasting achievements of art and mind in our time. —Saturday Review.

The musical comedy "Wonderful Town" opens on December 6, with music by Leonard Bernstein and book by Comden and Green.

"The Beggar's Opera," by John Gay, with new music by Benjamin Britten, will be presented on March 13, 14, 20, and 21. "The Beggar's Opera" has been presented in a number of versions, and the legendary highwayman, MacHeath, has become a popular figure through Kurt Weill's "Threepenny Opera."

After 400 years Shakespeare is enjoying unparalleled popularity. "The Tempest" joins the long list of annual Shakespearean productions at State college.

"Thieves' Carnival" closes the season, opening on May 8th. The comic dialogue and atypical characterizations of the play, riddled with sophisticated reasoning, nevertheless reveal a serious commentary on man and morals.

Reserved seat season tickets are now on sale at the Creative Arts Box Office, San Francisco State college, San Francisco 27, California. Individual tickets for "Queen After Death" may also be reserved. Telephone JUniper 5-7174.

Police Ball Is Scheduled On October 5

The 35th Annual Police Ball, sponsored by the Peninsula Officer's association, will be held October 5 at the Bay Meadows clubhouse in San Mateo.

Fred Hector and his orchestra will play for the annual dance.

Proceeds of the dance goes into the Widows and Orphans Aid and Welfare funds.

According to Daly City Police Chief Roland Petrocchi, this is the only appeal made by the police departments. The program is necessary to insure aid and relief to policemen's families in case of emergencies.

During the past year, he said, police officers have encountered additional and unusual hazards in the performance of their duties.

The A.A.U.W. includes members from Daly City, South San Francisco, and Millbrae as well as San Bruno.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

THE OUTSTANDING social event of the week will be staged tomorrow on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bocci Jr., in lovely Woodside, when Mrs. Bocci and Mrs. Vincent Murphy welcome approximately 40 of this area's civic and social leaders in the garden.

The affair, conceived and staged by Mrs. Bocci and Mrs. Murphy, is to be a private benefit gathering to raise funds for the Nuns of the Holy Infant of Jesus Order in Colma.

According to Mrs. Murphy, the Sisters have recently purchased a lovely tract of land in the Sleepy Hollow section of Marin and they hope to be able to build a Novitiate and women's retreat on the land. However, Mrs. Murphy continued, this is a small order and the Sisters feel it would be wise to retire the mortgage on the land before beginning any construction project.

With this in mind, Mrs. Bocci and Mrs. Murphy decided to do something to aid the sisters and tomorrow's party is being staged for this purpose.

Mrs. Murphy explained that the women have been asked to bring sandwiches and the hostesses will provide coffee and dessert and the equipment and facilities for the ladies to play games, cards or swim in the pool.

"We are asking everyone to make a donation to the fund when they come and the rest of the day will just be a casual afternoon of visiting or swimming, just whatever suits anyone's mood," Mrs. Murphy concluded.

A PERSONAL success story was written at last week's YWCA open house by Virginia Church, the newly appointed county director.

Miss Church, who met many of the local members for the first time at the Thursday open house, was most frequently described as "charming," "attractive," and "vivacious."

MRS. LESTER CANDEE of Westlake is up and about once more after having had a long period of illness resulting from a bout with a "flu" virus.

VYING with the fashions for supremacy in the field of beauty were the songs sung by the Daly City Community Chorus at the City of Hope Benefit Fashion Show in the Lake Merced clubhouse last Wednesday evening.

The chorus, in spite of a policy to accept no engagements without several weeks in which to prepare, accepted an emergency appeal from the Better Halves auxiliary for the City of Hope, and with only one week to rehearse, stepped in and provided the musical complement to the program of fall knit fashions.

Mrs. Susan Boyd, a member of the Belle-Tones, was guest pianist for the affair, and appeared on the program after only the shortest of possible rehearsals with the chorus and the soloists, according to chorus director, Mrs. Patti Stolz.

"Our regular pianist has moved," Mrs. Stolz explained, "and Susan, who usually sings with us, said she would fill in for us. She met with the chorus for rehearsal. Then she and soloists Jackie Madden, Alvin Beall, Larry Rogers and myself had separate rehearsals for our solos. All this happened in just one week, and I can't tell you what it meant to all of us to have Mrs. Boyd step in and perform as she did."

The group sang a large group of selections among which were such popular numbers as "Some Enchanted Evening," "You Are Beautiful," "My Heart's Darlin'," "Someone a Little Like You," "Indian Love Call" and "Under the Lilac Tree."

"The success of this chorus has been truly fantastic," Mrs. Stolz commented. "It has now become necessary for people to contact us at least six weeks prior to the date upon which they wish us to appear. We have engagements as far ahead as March already."

IN A MUSICAL MOOD, don't forget the newly formed class in choral work being offered each Monday night for the next 13 weeks at Westmoor High school.

The class, part of the adult education program, will meet from 7 p.m. until 9:45 and enrollment will cost only one dollar.

If you feel you are interested plan to attend the second meeting of the class next Monday and enroll.

SEEKING a means to express her thanks to all the wonderful people who did so much to see her through her recent illness is Mrs. Anne Murphy of Belhaven drive in Daly City.

Mrs. Murphy, who has been very active in the affairs of the Holy Angels Women's guild was taken to Letterman hospital in San Francisco on August 24 after she had suffered a heart attack. Between that date and September 4, when she was released the doctors recorded at least two more attacks, Mrs. Murphy said.

"All the time I was so ill cards and letters and flowers kept arriving for me and people kept having masses said for me," Mrs. Murphy explained. "So many flowers came they even had them lining the halls, it was marvelously heartwarming and I want to tell everyone who did anything for me how very much I appreciate it."

"Unfortunately, I've been unable to find addresses or even phone numbers of all the people so I hope they will forgive me for not answering them directly and accept my thanks offered through this paper."

DECORATIONS for the Memory Lane Fashion Show being presented by the Mothers' club of Our Lady of Perpetual Help school, were guaranteed a professional touch when Mrs. Antonette Gianelli of Cook's Radio shop volunteered to assist with the assembling of the remaining 30 floral centerpieces and donated an additional two arrangements from the stock in her shop.

Mrs. George Valente, chairman of the decorations committee and Mrs. Walter Tafalis, co-chairman, have been working to assemble the roses and pieces of driftwood that will be used in the centerpieces.

OTHER recent activity at Our Lady of Perpetual Help school included a welcome breakfast for all the new mothers.

Mrs. Alfred Galliano and Mrs. William McGuire, the second grade mothers, were hostesses at the breakfast.

Residence And Race Panel Set

The North Coastside Community council has invited all Pacificans to Vallemar school at 8 p.m. Monday for the first program in a series of three on the subject: "Race and Residence."

Each program will present a panel of speakers, some of whom are national authorities on minority problems. A public discussion will be held later.

The first program Monday will be a general discussion of minorities and residence. A program October 28 will present an account of what has happened in other communities where integration in housing has been started.

The final program November 25 will deal with practical steps for the responsible community in preparing for integration.

The NCCC in holding these public forums hopes to inform all citizens of the basic but emotionally charged issue of fair housing and of obstacles to it.

Psi Epsilon Sets 'School Days' Rush

"School Days" is the theme for the fall rush party to be held by Psi Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Monday, at 333 Palomar drive, Daly City.

The party is at the home of vice president Mrs. Robert Coons, who is in charge of pledges.

The invitations mailed by social chairman Mrs. Gino Pettinari and her assistant, Mrs. Jack McCauley, are in the form of school slates and the costumes will be "kiddy" clothes.

Invitations will be extended during the evening to the prospective pledges for the model meeting to be held October 1 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Art Jepson, 12 Felton street, South San Francisco.

Plans will be finalized for the Christmas package raffle to be conducted as a benefit for the new Mary's Help hospital under the direction of philanthropic chairman Mrs. Robert Orth.

The program, "Self Estimate" will be given by Mrs. John Gould.

Welcome Tea Scheduled by Bayshore P-TA

The Bayshore P-TA will conduct a welcome tea for parents and teachers at 2:30 p.m. today in the library of Bayshore school at 155 Oriente street, Daly City.

Mrs. Jack Archer will be the hospitality chairman. Room representatives from Bayshore, Midway and Robertson schools will assist.

The first meeting of the fall for the Bayshore P-TA will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, October 3, in the school library.

"School Education" will be the topic of the meeting. Dorothy Fitzgerald, principal of Bayshore, Gail O'Grady, principal of Midway and Robertson schools and Natalie Lipman, Bayshore school district superintendent, will be guest speakers.

Fuchsia Unit To Show Films

Color slides and moving pictures of the American Fuchsia society at 8 p.m. Friday in a mystery plant, door prizes and a table of fuchsias are planned in addition to refreshments.

Frosh Parents To be Honored

Mrs. A. J. Huelse, new president of the Jefferson High school P-TA, has announced that the first planned program for the new school year will be a tea honoring parents of freshmen.

It will be held at 2:30 p.m. September 26 in the school cafeteria.

The new P-TA schedule revolves around two major goals: to create new school spirit, and to initiate a program for vocational scholarships.

The program will be launched with proceeds from a large community dance scheduled for January 24.

Color Slide Show Mapped

The Mater Dolorosa Church Women's club will present a color slide show at 8 tonight in the church hall.

James Keegan will show slides of parish activities. Mrs. Warren Olsen has been named co-chairman for the Columbus Day Dinner dance to be held at the Rod and Gun club.

A Report on Air Defenses

Pacificans See Missile Facilities

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two articles on a tour of air defense facilities in three states taken by Connie Mason and Mrs. Fred Ballew Jr. of Pacifica and eight other Bay Area women. Mrs. Mason, the author of these articles, is the wife of Pacifica councilman George Mason. In this article, she will discuss the first two days of the tour.)

By CONNIE MASON

NOW I can sleep nights and know the defense of our country is in capable hands. I have returned from "Operation Understanding," a trip sponsored by the 40th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense), to promote better public understanding of an important element of the army—the United States Army Air Defense Command.

This was a five-day trip, covering roughly 3000 air miles. It took us from San Francisco to El Paso, Tex.; White Sands, N.M.; Colorado Springs, Colo., and back home.

My traveling companions on the trip were Mrs. Adele Rose of Oakland, Mrs. Adele M. Smith and Mrs. Lois S. Huitt of Berkeley, Mrs. Warren Giddings of Modesto, Mrs. William L. Rogers, Elizabeth J. Birdsall, Ann J. Smith and Mrs. Ted Huggins of San Francisco and Mrs. Fred Ballew Jr. of Pacifica.

Our escorts were Col. Thomas H. Barfield, commanding officer of the 40th Artillery Brigade and Maj. Alice H. Holberg, information officer.

On the morning of August 6 at 6 a.m., a staff car picked up Mrs. Ballew and myself at our homes and drove us to Hamilton Air Force Base in Marin county.

At the Officers club we had breakfast and met our escorts and traveling companions for the first time. Over our second cup of coffee, Col. Barfield outlined our trip for us and briefed us on what to look forward to for the next few days.

He then dispensed air sick pills.

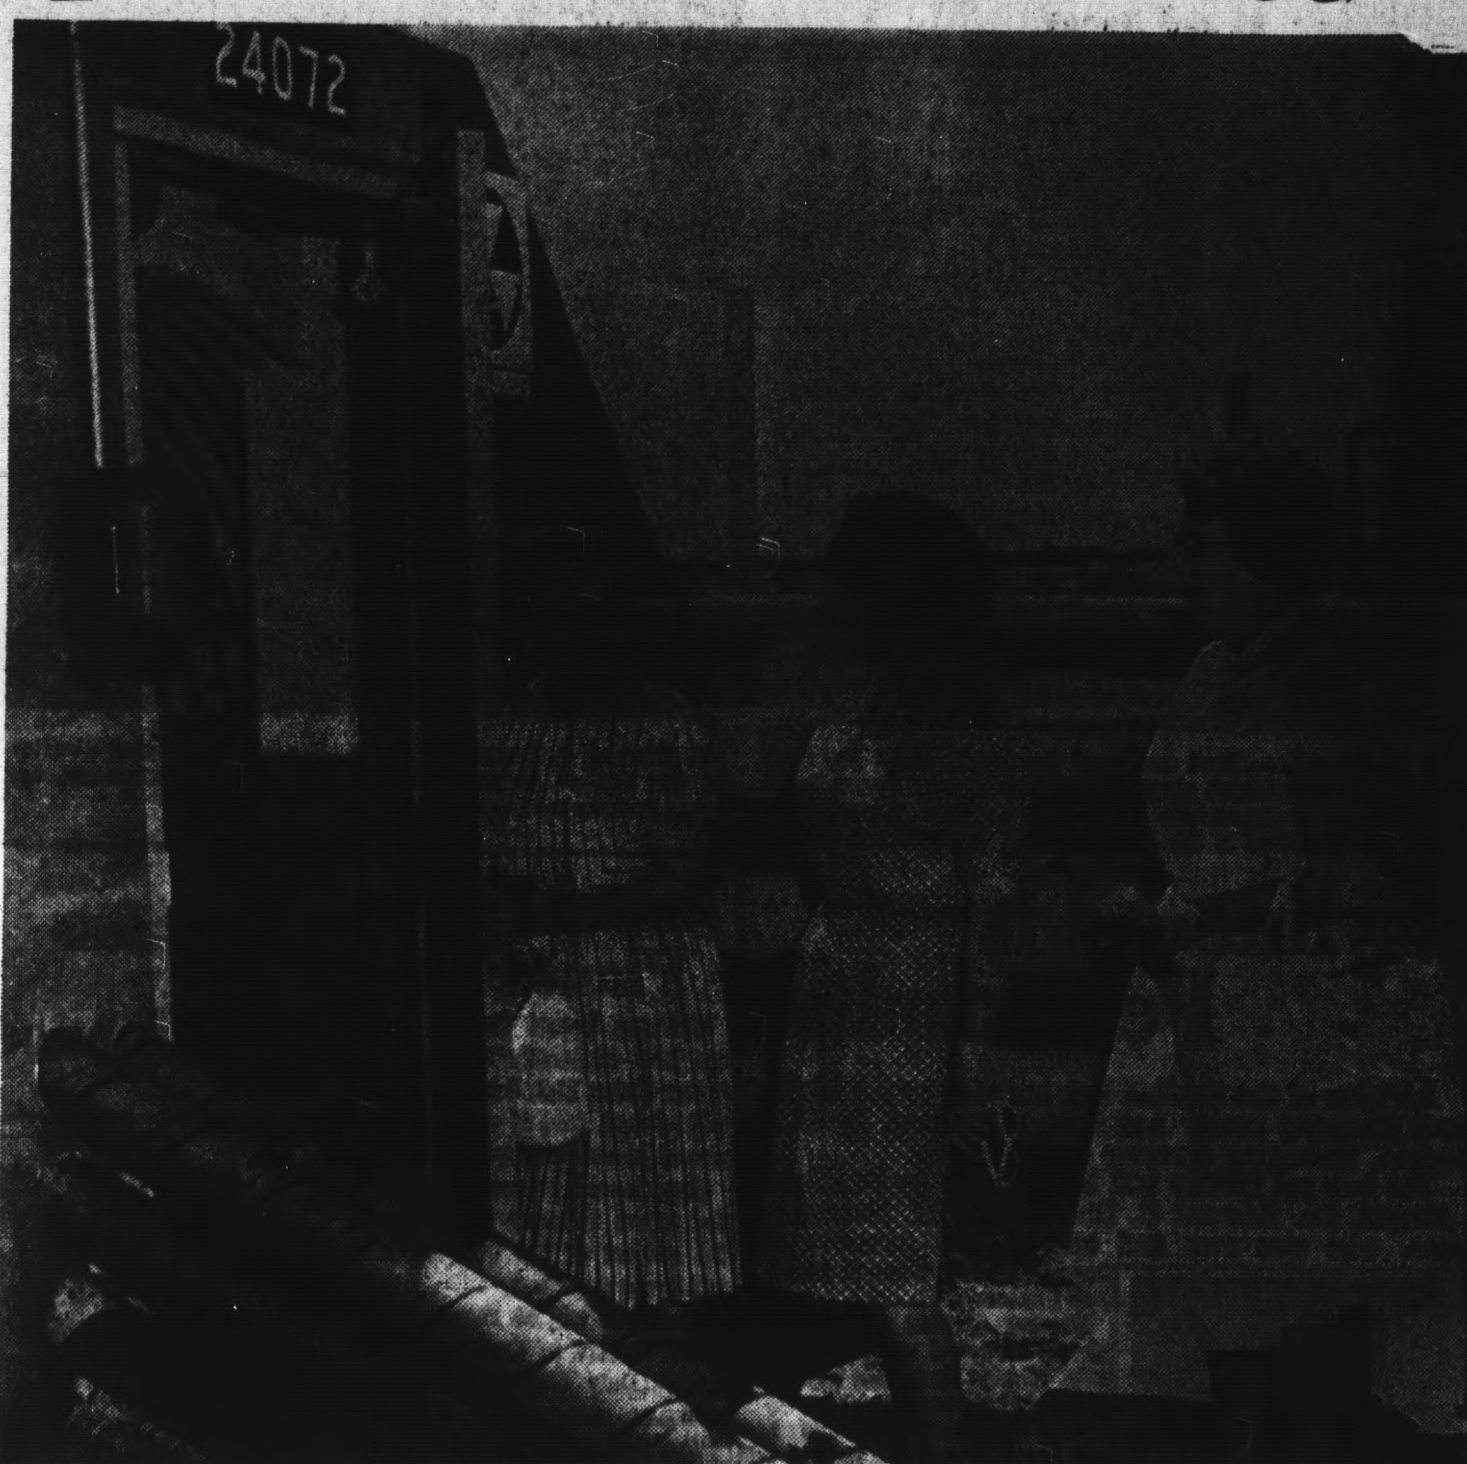

At 8 a.m., we boarded two CV47's, provided by the 443rd Air Transport Squadron, and we were on our way.

The trip from Hamilton to Fort Bliss, Tex., took approximately seven hours. We cruised at 150 m.p.h. and flew at about 8000 feet.

Box lunches were served en route and it was a pleasant and restful trip until we were over the desert, when heat waves rising from the desert caused it to be bumpy. No one, however, suffered any illness.

ON OUR arrival at Fort Bliss, we were met by Maj. Helen Harbaugh who would be our guide and escort during our stay there.

She told us we were quite lucky as the temperature was only in the 90's, and up until the day before had been well over 100 degrees.

A CLOSE LOOK—Mrs. George Mason, right, Mrs. Fred Ballew Jr., center, both of Pacifica, and Mrs. Ted Huggins of San Francisco inspect a testing shelter on their five-day tour

A bus took us to "Fifth avenue," to the bachelor officers' quarters, where we freshened up and within thirty minutes were back on the bus and headed for Juarez, Mexico, and a shopping excursion.

All of us came back loaded with purchases. You know women can't pass up a bargain and there are plenty in Juarez. That evening we had dinner at the Fort Bliss Officers' club and passed up a return trip to Juarez. By then our feet hurt, and since we were in Juarez, we a.m., early to bed sounded just fine.

Major Harbaugh's system of reveille for the civilians was a telephone call to each guest house.

After breakfast we went to the Army Air Defense school and as our briefing officer Col. Kallman remarked, a "meeting of shareholders."

The school conducts a massive educational program to train the commanders and missile technicians necessary to carry out the air defense program.

The school conducts four types of instruction: technician, supervisory, orientation and operations. It teaches 48 courses varying in length from one to 54 weeks.

During a typical school year, approximately 10,000 students are graduated, including about 1000 allied forces students.

The school employs approximately 2100 persons and uses equipment and facilities valued at over $63 million.

We moved on to another building where we had a general briefing on the Nike family of missiles, including the Ajax and Hercules. We also were briefed on the Hawk and other missile systems; saw a display of a typical Nike site, and saw a "Nike in the Attack" demonstration.

I MUST admit here that all this technical information and data was about this time just so many facts and figures.

But as we continued on with our tour all those little facts and figures started falling into place. I started to feel I had a rather good concept of what was taking place.

After lunch, we traveled to of air defense facilities in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. The women viewed missile testing facilities and witnessed the firing of several rockets during their tour.

McGregor Range, N.M. (still a part of Fort Bliss) where we received a pre-fire briefing and observed an actual firing of Nike missiles.

We were quite fortunate as most groups see perhaps two or three firings and we witnessed nine, including Ajax, Hercules, Hawk and two "stop fires" where a missile is launched and must be destroyed almost as soon as it leaves the pad.

What can one say about these firings? As a child I read about such things in Buck Rogers cartoons and never believed them possible.

Now to actually see them makes a Fourth of July fireworks display seem like nursery school play. They are breathtaking, to say the least.

For example, the Hercules, a surface to air missile, can destroy a target at an altitude above 150,000 feet—a target moving faster than 2000 miles per hour.

The over-all length of the Hercules is 39 feet and it has a drive, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that vandals had broken two bedroom windows in her home.

The Hawk is quite impressive, mainly because it is a surface-to-surface missile and much easier to follow with a beautiful orange and blue flame in its wake.

Next Week: Mrs. Mason describes the spectacular firing of a research Nike Zeus "kill-let" missile on the third day of the tour.

B'nai B'rith Sale Planned

Skyline chapter, B'nai B'rith Women, will hold its annual rummage sale, Wednesday, October 9, at the Hall of Flowers, Ninth avenue and Lincoln way, in San Francisco.

When this women's group was first organized, Daly City had a thriving Jewish community and Jewish activities were at a great height. The congregation was then new and most of these ladies were new to the city.

In the course of years, many of the honored ladies, who are now grandmothers have continued to do charitable work in this area helping both Christians and Jews alike when in need.

The congregation is now making way for the freeway and the building will be removed.

Teenager Asks...

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:
I am a parent and very concerned. I have one teen-age son and one who will be a teen-ager soon. I am shocked by their topic of discussion. When I was a teenager the word sex was never mentioned. But now it's common. What is going on? What has happened to the pure teen-ager? Is nothing sacred anymore? I have talked to several parents and we compare our teen-age years to today's and WOW! Please teach us.

A worried father.

Dear Dad:
If you have two teen-agers, you need no teaching.

How can you compare your teen-age years to your children? We are living in a completely different world than we were then.

You are right, sex is an open subject. Why not? Did you ever turn on television without seeing something to do with sex. There's your best teacher. I have nothing against television but as an example its perfect. It's the same with movies. Movies are getting bolder and bolder. Nothing has been left unexplored as far as movies go.

What really makes me laugh is that while the picture is shown at a downtown theater, no one under 21 years can be admitted. But when it hits the neighborhood theater, it's even shown at kiddie matinee, with cartoons to boot.

So you see there are more ways of being educated than there were in years past. The only thing we can try to do is teach them what they see and learn about sex must be unlearned and scrubbed well. We have to pray that some of the decent things we have taught them will pay off and win out.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:
I am 16 years old. When I was 13, I got into trouble and people don't let me forget it. Everything something goes wrong they blame me. I have been trying to go right but why should I get blamed anyway? Don't people ever believe a guy? What can I do about it?

J. C.

Dear J. C.:
You can begin by stop feeling sorry for yourself. Second, start proving your change by acting like you have a new start.

You sound like you're carrying a large chip on your shoulder, and the whole world is picking on you.

Give them a chance, they don't know if you changed. People are naturally quick to judge, unfortunately. The world is full of judges, and since you have been in trouble you're a good target.

Only you can prove them wrong. Get up and show them by doing, not talking. They judge by your actions, so put away your self pity and grow up and face the fact that you made a mistake, and do something about it.

You can do it. Many great men have made mistakes and picked themselves up, and have been much greater for it. It takes guts.

If you have it, prove it or plan on spending the rest of your life feeling sorry for yourself and blaming others for what you had the chance to correct.

D.C. LIBRARIES

Closed Shelves Policy Adopted

The Daly City Library commission last week formally adopted a policy on closed shelves—a policy the commission had agreed upon earlier but wanted to study further before putting it down in writing.

In essence, the policy states that closed stacks are contrary to the purposes of the library but that some books, either because of their value or their particular nature, may be withdrawn from open shelves.

At its meeting last month, City Librarian Samuel Chandler argued against the commission setting up any kind of screening operation—a stand that commission members quickly said they were in accord with.

Chandler said then, however, that the library system has had "some very bad experience" with books that are "so desirable" that they are repeatedly stolen.

Here is the text of the new policy:

"It is part of the library's program to encourage both an appreciation of the arts and an understanding of topics of current interest. A special endeavor is to provide material suited to the needs of the varied citizenry of Daly City.

"Closed shelves as a broad policy are contrary to the purposes and goals of the library. In some cases, however, certain rare or valuable books need protection from possible damage.

"In certain other cases, the nature of some books may give cause for their withdrawal from open stacks.

"It is the prerogative of the city librarian to establish a closed shelf and place therein such books as he may see fit.

"In the best interests of the public library, however, the city librarian shall submit to the library commission a semi-annual list of the titles on the closed shelves and in locked cases."

Police said Jones was shot in the back as he was standing in a corner of the bedroom near a closet.

A family physician was summoned. He reported the incident to police.

Investigators said Mrs. Jones had told them the shooting occurred after a marital dispute.

She said her husband had "dared" her to shoot him. The weapon used was a .22 caliber revolver, police said.

EN ROUTE TO BANK Robber Holds Up Westlake Clerk

A bearded bandit, using a toy pistol, held up an Auto-torium Stores clerk carrying receipts to a bank in Daly City about 3 p.m. last Tuesday.

A company spokesman estimated the loss at about $5500 in cash and checks.

Police reported that a stolen getaway car the bandit had used was found nearby later in a carport area. The toy pistol was found on the floor of the car.

Bystanders in the area reported seeing a man walk from the stolen car to a waiting station wagon, driven by a second suspect.

The clerk, Harry O. Griffith of 860 Hillside boulevard, employed by the Auto-torium store at 53

Southgate avenue, in the Westlake Shopping center, told Daly City Detective Lester Bastedo he was walking through a parking lot en route to the bank when he was accosted by the bandit.

He said the robber was sitting in a parked 1949 auto. As Griffith passed the car, the bandit pointed a pistol at him, partly concealed by a cloth, and demanded: "Stop and throw the money in here."

The clerk said he thought the bandit was "kidding" but that the bandit replied: "No, I am not kidding."

After he threw the bag into the auto, Griffith was ordered to get into a car parked nearby and remain there until the robber had left.

Griffith told Bastedo he ran and crouched behind the auto until the robber drove away. Investigators said the getaway car was found about 3:30 p.m. in the carport area at 115 Crestwood drive. The owner was identified as David W. Harvick of 503 Iowa drive, San Mateo. It had been stolen from a commuter parking lot, police reported.

The second getaway auto was a 1953 station wagon with Oregon license plates. From statements taken from Griffith and witnesses, the two suspects were described as being between 22 and 25 years old.

Sharks Caught Off Coast Shore

Dan Martin of Surf street, Pacifica, caught two leopard sharks within an hour last week while fishing on Sharp Park beach.

One was three feet and the other two feet long.

Martin said he snagged the larger one only fifty feet from the water's edge and that he believed last week's spell of warm weather was bringing sharks in closer to shore.

ABOUT GOVERNMENT

B.B.B. Manager Voices Warning

The director of the San Mateo County Better Business bureau last week warned against an increasing tendency by government to control more and more aspects of the nation's business life.

In a speech to the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce at the Sea Bowl, Charles B. Beasley declared:

"Businessmen, through Better Business bureaus, are trying to prevent any further encroachment of government into business."

He cited a recent law passed by the California legislature, specifying that a television repairman's bill cannot exceed the estimate he had given the customer.

Beasley commented that the law permits an unethical repairman to estimate a cost far higher than a repair job warrants. And he added:

"It (the law) is a door-opener for government to get into more home-type services with the same type of regulation."

He noted that "we feel that businessmen can run their own show."

In his talk, Beasley reviewed the operation of the County Better Business bureau in San Mateo county since the county unit became independent of its San Francisco counterpart.

A branch of the San Francisco unit was established in the county in February in 1961. In January independent.

Beasley said the bureau is supported by 280 companies in the county. The organization is non-profit. Representatives of the

Wesley Maps Donut Sale

Wesley Methodist church will conduct a doughnut sale at Susie's Quality Donut shop in St. Francis Square shopping center on Saturday, October 5, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The doughnuts are being furnished by store owner, Ted Lambertson.

The sale is sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the church. Chairman of the sale is Mrs. Rita Sowers.

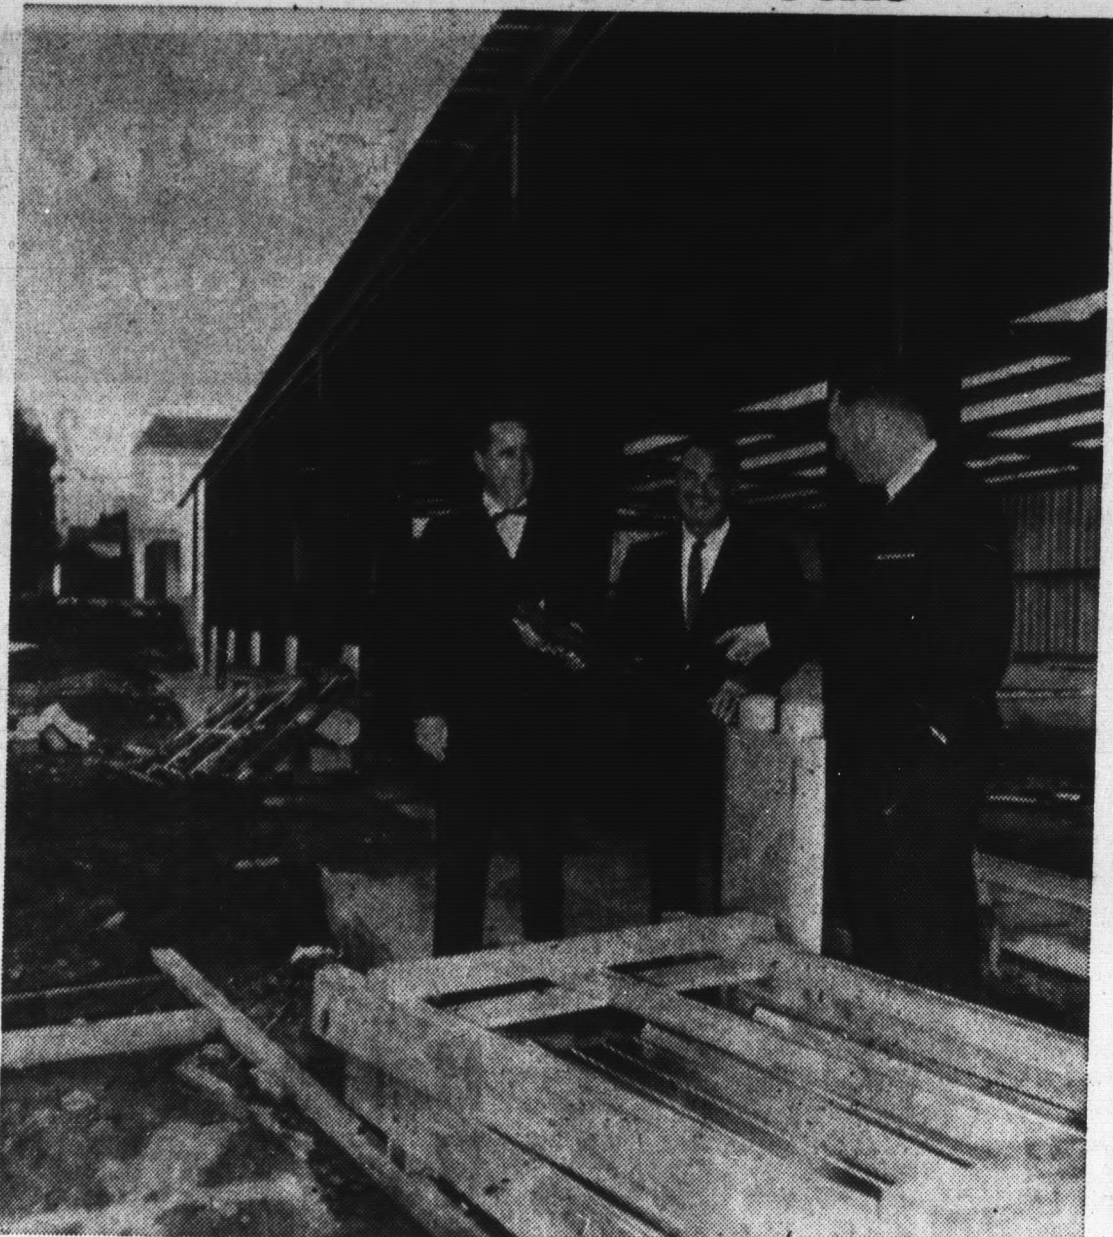

Advance orders are being taken by Mrs. Sowers at PL 6-7096, and those orders will be delivered to the homes by the members of the church the day of the sale.

Proceeds of the sale will go to the church building fund.

Construction of the new church near St. Francis shopping center is expected to begin within the year.

Wesley Methodist church now meets at Thomas Edison school, 1225 Southgate avenue. Dr. Edward A. Wolfe is the minister.

First Aid Classes Set

Further information is available at the Red Cross, 600 Palmetto, at 355-4194.

Vista Grande Minister Returns from Conference

Programs, problems and national-local relationships were the subjects of the National Association for Retarded Children Institute attended by Rev. Paul E. Kenny, executive director of Guidance for Retarded Children and associate minister of Vista Grande avenue Christian church of Daly City.

Reverend Kenny has just returned from the institute in Minneapolis, Minn., for national and local retarded children's group directors. Kenny was recently hired to guide the 11-year-old guidance group.

"The institute was the first of its kind in the United States," Kenny said. "It was mainly informative, an orientation for the directors to national-local relationships, problems and programs. The meeting was very significant in the future of programs for retarded children across the nation, he continued."

Kenny, who recently received his administration credentials at San Francisco State college, has been a teacher from grammar school to college level for 25 years and was ordained a minister of the Christian church in 1935.

He was president of the Idaho State Association for Retarded Children for one year and vice president for two years. He received his master of arts degree in special education.

The GRC workshop for youngsters eight and up will be handled by Kenny as an added duty until a teacher can be hired.

The nursery school, also operated by GRC for pre-school retarded children at Rumlill road and Road 20, is now accepting applications. Mrs. Sue Stockman will take them at 234-5569.

SILVER DOLLARS STOLEN Armida Martinovich of 406 Florence street, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that burglars had stolen 40 silver dollars from a bedroom dresser drawer.

He Took an Impromptu Auto Ride

Three-year-old Danile D. George of Daly City went for a short — and unscheduled — ride last Wednesday.

It ended when the car he was riding in alone hit a parked truck.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Mary F. George, of 34 Rockford avenue, told police she had parked her auto in front of her house.

Danile, she said, climbed in unnoticed and somehow released the brake.

The auto rolled down a hill and struck the truck, owned by Melvin W. Wilner of 82 Westline drive. It was parked in front of his home.

Police said Danile wasn't injured in his impromptu trip.

Brisbane to Annex Strips Of Highway

Brisbane councilmen began proceedings to annex two strips of the old Bayshore highway as a prelude to taking over the Brisbane fire district when they met Tuesday night.

Both strips—one near the southern boundary of the district and the other between the entrance road to the city and Boneyard Hill—are part of the fire district but were never incorporated within city boundaries.

The northern strip includes the sewage treatment plant of the Guadalupe sanitary district.

It is expected that if the local fire department becomes a municipal department, the city will continue an agreement to provide fire protection facilities to Crocker Industrial Park.

A public hearing was scheduled for October 28 on the annexations.

Two representatives of the state division of highways appeared to explain how Route 253, the new freeway that will be extended from San Francisco in the vicinity of Candlestick Point, will eventually effect the city.

Councilmen expressed the hope that a connection from the freeway can some day be extended over San Bruno Mountain to Market street in Daly City.

City Manager Lanier S. Brady reported that construction work on San Bruno avenue recently has caused numerous breaks in water mains and temporary loss of water service in the area.

Because old two-inch lines in the area-old and inadequate, Brady recommended that the city investigate the placing of six or eight-inch lines in the area.

County Asks Interchange For Center

County supervisors agreed last week to ask the state to build a more extensive interchange structure than the one now planned for the Collins avenue (Colma) crossing of the proposed Junipero Serra freeway.

County Engineer Don S. Wilson said plans for the structure should be revised to provide better access to a shopping center planned for the big Christen Ranch development.

Wilson said the developer, Suburban Realty company, which had requested the change, had agreed to do some excavation work on the highway project to compensate the state for the additional cost of the interchange changes.

The firm would bond itself, Wilson said, as a guarantee to remove up to 3 million yards of dirt from the freeway right of way. The dirt will be needed as fill material on the housing project, anyway, Wilson said.

The board agreed to the deal and passed a resolution asking the state to make the changes.

The third annual Daly City Employees picnic will be held at Blackberry Farms in Cupertino September 29, according to City Treasurer Joseph Lewkowitz.

The picnic is open to all families and friends of the employees, Lewkowitz said.

Adults will be charged $1.50. Children under six will be admitted free.

The festivities include free beer, soda pop, ice cream and prizes for all sorts of games and contests.

Included in the contests will be a tug-of-war between the police department and the public works department. Anchor man for the police will be dispatcher James Walsh, while Edward Tomasello will fill the key position for the public works, Lewkowitz said.

Committee workers in the various departments are: Charles Vincent, recreation; Keith Schrock, fire; James Burman, street; Helen Sherwood, police; Doris Rehe, finance; Rosalie Schrock, finance; William Chapman, engineering; Edward Frank, administration, and George Hopman, building inspector.

Lewkowitz said sales are "going good."

ENTER NOW! FOOTBALL CONTEST

Send in your entry in the FOOTBALL CONTEST sponsored by The Post and The Times

Entries available every Wednesday in the Post.

RULES AND INSTRUCTIONS

- Select the winner of each game by placing an "X" in the box on the margin side of the team you think will win. If you predict the game will end in a tie, place an "X" only in the column headed "Tie" between the two teams. If the game ends in a tie, credit will only be given to contestants who predict the tie.
- Write the total net yards (rushing and passing) that you think the 5 players will make in Sunday's game in the box provided. (This estimate will only be used in case of ties between two contestants.)
- Clip and enter the entry blank to: FOOTBALL CONTEST, San Mateo Times, 145 Second Avenue, San Mateo, Calif. or to FOOTBALL CONTEST, The Post, 30 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City, Calif.
- Entries must be postmarked prior to midnight Thursday of this week or latest Thursday of this week. The Times is not responsible for entries lost, delayed or destroyed or which fail to reach the Times.
- To receive the cash prize the winner must pick all 15 games correctly. If the entry does not pick all games right, then the winner will receive 2 tickets to the Big Game, California vs. Stanford on Nov. 23. The previous week's contest cash prize will be added to the next week's contest if it is not distributed to a winner. This cash prize will be given to the winner of the final week's contest for games to be played Nov. 16-17 if it has not been distributed before. The forfeited by The Times.
- Final week's winner will not need to guess all 15 games to win the cash prize. In case ties cannot be broken by the contestants by means of the tie-breaker, the prize will be divided equally. (This includes ties between contestants who pick 15 winners.)
- A bonus of $50 will be given to each prize winner (not Big Game ticket winners) who is a home-delivered subscriber to The San Mateo Times or indicates immediate delivery of the Times is wanted. To qualify for this bonus, either of the boxes at the bottom of the entry blank must be checked. In the event two or more subscribers divide the contest cash prize, the bonus prize will be divided in the same manner.
- A contestant may submit as many entries as desired on the official entry blank but only one exact-sized facsimile of the entry blank. Submission of more than one facsimile in any one week will render all facsimiles submitted by that contestant void.
- Entries may be attached to a post card, mailed in an envelope or delivered by hand to the office of The Times.
- Anyone may enter the contest except employees of The Times or immediate members of their family. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decisions. All entries become the property of The Times. No answers may be returned. The Times reserves the right to correct any typographical errors in the entry blank which affect the outcome of the contest. Begonia Is Showy Plant Of Summer

The showy, tuberous begonia, former "Queen of Summer Flowers," is The Post-Times Plant of the Week. Grown as potted plants in the garden of the A. J. Gilberts, 460 Fairfax Avenue, San Mateo, the tuberous begonia makes a display difficult to equal outside a flower show.

A few years back the tuberous begonia was one of the most beautiful as well as most popular garden plants for summer color and cut bloom for indoor decoration. Then, mildew began attacking the plants. This was a new cultural problem, as far as begonias and Peninsula gardeners were concerned. Even the growers in the great begonia growing areas of Capitola and Monterey had not been troubled with this unsightly fungus before. No really good control was available.

As late as 1941, H. M. Butterfield, head of the Extension service of the University of California at that time, wrote that powdery mildew had been reported on tuberous begonias but "it is not a very common trouble in most gardens." He suggested that keeping the foliage relatively dry and growing the plants where the foliage dries off quickly after sprinkling would prevent mildew from being troublesome. Even in 1948 mildew on begonias was so seldom experienced that Worth Brown, largest tuberous begonia grower in the world, did not mention it in the chapter on "Pests and Disease" in his book "Tuberous Begonias," published by M. Barrows & Company, Inc. that year.

Mildew became a widespread problem in the early 1950s. Sulfur was the most highly recommended preventive with copper a close second but, they didn't work well enough to keep begonias at the top of the "best-seller" list. Growers turned to the chemical companies for help in getting a material that would not only prevent the disfiguring mildew but clean it off once it had attacked.

One of the first to come up with a material was the Upjohn company. They sent out a material for testing called "Actidione." This material was highly effective when used as suggested by the manufacturers. Soon after this came several other effective mildew preventives, such as "Mildex," "Mildon't," "Mildew King," "Doo-Spray," and "Karatane."

All of these are still doing an excellent job. Actidione PM and Karatane also do a good eradication job when used after mildew has infected the plants so in time, the beautiful tuberous begonia may regain its popularity lead.

A contributing factor in the popularity of tuberous begonias is

Plant of the Week

PLANT OF THE WEEK is the glamorous Tuberous begonia, a featured plant in the A. J. Gilbert garden, 460 Fairfax, San Mateo. With the advent of good mildew controls, the Tuberous Begonia is regaining its popularity in local gardens.

the ability of the tubers to produce better plants and blooms each year for a number of years. The Gilbert plants were seedlings this spring. Next year each tuber will be a little over an inch in diameter when planted and the plant will be even bigger than this year. Care of the dormant tubers is important to good plant and flower production a second year and each year thereafter.

Dormant care starts in the fall when the amount of bloom begins to decrease and the foliage turns pale and yellow. This is the signal that dormancy is approaching. With fewer flowers and no growing activity, the plants need much less water, but it should not be omitted entirely. Soon leaves and stems will fall. These should be removed from about the plants before they can start decaying. When this happens water may be withheld entirely. If a portion of the stem remains attached to the tuber, leave it on temporarily. After a week or ten days in storage it will fall off naturally. Never cut or break it off forcibly.

Tubers in the garden should be lifted when all the stem has dropped, the soil washed off with the hose, and placed in a ventilated box or flat until they are completely dried.

Here's News in Building a Lawn

By IVA NEWMAN

The best news is the new look in the suburbs with today's home being embellished by the best turf ever and cared for more conveniently than ever. The public interest in lawns has engendered liaison between industries so that today's turf people talk of "good lawns," not just seed, herbicides, mowers, or fertilizers separately. Through good publicity and alert, reliable merchandising, the newest amateur quickly becomes aware that the interplay between good soil preparation, good seed, proper mowing, fertilization and top-flight equipment not only makes a good lawn possible, but makes it fun to build and maintain.

Home owners are becoming aware that the soil is a dynamic system, not just inert matter to be laboriously bulldozed and tilled. They are learning that it has a structure and a population of micro-organisms as important as its fertility. Structure can be hurt and air for the "bugs" eliminated by a squeezing from heavy equipment during home construction or by tillage when so wet it produces clods.

Both gardeners and home owners have a new appreciation of the importance of small percentages of organic additions, to make crumbly soil that lets water seep through, with air right behind for root growth and micro-organism survival. After the final grading most lawns will profit from a good inch of organic material thoroughly mixed to a four or five inch depth. This can be by hand, but in a day of power equipment it is much easier to rent a convenient "non-fluffing" rotary tiller or custom tractor and disc. Be certain of thorough mixing, since layered organic materials will disrupt normal water movement through the soil.

Manures Passe

Manures are nowadays passe, but peat, sphagnum and processed organics are handled in bale and bag form by garden centers. Also modern mineral additives such as vermiculite, perlite and uncrushable clay pellets will improve soils physically.

A new wrinkle in seedbed preparation that is catching on fast is soil sterilization. There are on the market today several chemicals, which destroy weed seed, living shoots, most insects and nematodes. Some are applied as a drench (with a sprinkling can), others as a dry powder spread on the surface of the cultivated area, and methyl bromide, a gas which must be enclosed under polyethylene or a tarpaulin. This latter is perhaps best left to professionals, because of the danger to the user, but does have an advantage in that the area can be planted within two or three days after treatment. Vapom and Mylone must be used at least three weeks ahead of the expected planting date.

The pace of modern life leaves little tolerance for the older methods of soil preparation such as green manuring (plowing under a planted crop), nor with manures even where obtainable (Manures generally bring weeds, are often sphagnum moss or local wastes difficult to handle; their nutrient worth is so small, that a chemical fertilizer combined with easily applied organics or additives is usually preferable for grass). The grass roots will "green mature" the soil themselves, if urged along with sufficient fertilizer, adding their contribution of organic residues year after year.

BOTH GRASSES ARE fescues. One on the left is a prime component of quality lawn seed mixtures. The coarse grass on the right is of the

New Fertilizer Idea

There is a newer realization of the way fertilizers perform. At the time of seedbed preparation the introduction of phosphorus several inches deep into the soil is especially important. Phosphorus has the habit of fixing to the soil immediately, and moving very slowly (about one-quarter inch a year) down the soil column. Thus unless it is stirred into the root zone before planting, it may be a long time reaching there. Seedbed cultivation is the opportune time for mixing in about 20 pounds per 1000 square feet of a complete garden fertilizer.

Soil preparation can also be the time for grub-proofing or other insecticidal and fungicidal treatment of lawns. Chlordane and dieldrin are two of the insecticides that last for years in the soil, use a little less than a pound of active material per 1000 square feet. These may also be applied after the turf is established, and, in the case of chlordane, it serves in some of the newer pre-emergence crabgrass controls. Some times such chemicals stimulate turf in addition to controlling harmful insects, perhaps by benefiting certain soil micro-organism populations or grass roots directly.

Mulching seedlings is fairly new, and has only recently become widely accepted. A surface layer of suitable mulch prevents soil wash, and retains humidity for seed sprouting. Clean straw, sphagnum moss or local wastes such as tillo have all been used,

A loosely woven netting (erosion-control), and an even more loosely woven fabric which will tie down a scattering of straw on a steep slope are available. The newest idea of all is a polyethylene plastic covering tacked down around the edge with large nails pushed into the soil. This "miniature greenhouse" retains moisture which drips back onto the soil, while still letting light and air through for a fast seed start under protected conditions.

With seeds there is new realization that the quality perennial grasses, traditionally a component of the finest mixtures, have tremendous potential when unadulterated with fast-sprouting aggressive sorts often dignified as "nursegrasses." Kentucky bluegrass mixtures really need no ryegrass or redtop. With mulching, nursegrass need is eliminated. Space and nutrients are reserved for the permanent grasses. There is a difference in grass seed so it is most important that the buyer look to the required labeling, to be certain that proper kinds of grass predominate (the Kentucky bluegrasses and red fescues, for this area).

Once lawns were mostly sown by casting handfuls of seed in a wide arc, letting it sift to the soil. Uniformity in coverage is obtained by bulking the seed with an equal amount of inert material of equivalent texture (corn meal, sifted soil or sand of about the same particle size as bluegrass seed). One half is distributed walking one direction, the remaining half at right angles after the first half has been raked into the loose surface. These principles haven't changed but mechanical devices for sowing the seeds have improved to give better distribution. Probably the most precise is the drop-from-hopper carts, which have a rate calibration to match the seed. Quicker but less exact are the "whirlwind" seeders. These scatter seed in a wide arc, rapidly. There are even devices for blowing mulch, with asphalt tackdown to keep it from scattering.

Seed will tumble into the loose soil if a chain link mat or flexible time rake is dragged lightly over the seedbed. With most soils rolling is not necessary as watering will thoroughly implant the seed. Don't fuss with fine pulverization of a seedbed, since soil lumps as large as your thumb nail form a perfect nesting place for the small seeds. A pebbled surface resists "melting" to a caked impervious layer longer than does a dusty seedbed, tests have shown.

Warmth and Moisture

Bringing up the seedlings require that nature supply the warmth and man assure the moisture the two vital ingredients for seed sprouting. Sprinkling devices are too numerous to detail, but newer models apply small-droplet sprays that don't break down the surface structure of the soil rapidly. Good sprayers will apply essentially equal volumes of water to all portions of the spray area. To check their proper functioning place identical tin cans in several locations, and note whether these accumulate equivalent amounts of water.

The first mowing might well start when the grass has reached a height of around three inches. Bluegrass is best kept one and a half to two inches tall, and the first mowing can be at these heights. High mowing provides deeper rooting and weed inhibition. The mower should be sharp, so that the seedlings will not be pulled loose. The mower should only be used when the soil of the lawn is firm enough not to track from the wheels or the grass be compressed.

Horticultural Group Formed

The newly organized "Western Horticultural society" got off to a record start at their first meeting, held last Monday night in the Los Altos Methodist Community church. One hundred and forty-three interested horticulturists and home owners turned out to hear P. H. Brydon, director of the Strybing Arboretum in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. Brydon showed slides of new, rare and unusual trees, shrubs and flowers and gave a short history of each plant. Most of the plants were shown as they grow with a second slide showing close-ups of the individual flower or leaf. The program was followed by a showing and discussion of live plants brought to the meeting by the officers of the new society. Maunsell Van Rensselaer, director of the Saratoga Horticultural foundation, served as chairman of the plant display.

Items exhibited and discussed were: Acer Negunda, California Box Elder; Sciadopitys verticillata, the rare umbrella pine; Val-lota species, Scarborough lily; Gordonia lasianthus; Rhipis ex-celsa; Oxalis ortgies; Solanum aculeatissimum; Setcreasea purpurea; Pellea X Horticultural hybrid; Pinus edula; Darlingtonia Californica; Daphne mertensii-

Marinate an Inexpensive Steak for a Taste Thrill

The most tempting and flavorful meats need not be the most expensive. The taste and tenderness of an inexpensive meat may be enhanced by marinating for several hours in a combination of bottled lemon juice, spices and other ingredients.

Deviled Steak is a chuck or round steak, which has been marinated four hours in bottled lemon juice, catsup, oil, Worcestershire sauce, soy sauce, rosemary, dry mustard and garlic.

The marinade gives a spicy tang to the meat, which is further enhanced if it is broiled over charcoal.

You may add a gourmet side dish by sauteing mushrooms in butter and stirring in a little of the marinade for seasoning. This is the perfect solution for the large barbecue party, or fall dinner — inexpensive, tasteful and easy-to-prepare.

DEVILED STEAK

4 pounds chuck or round steak, 1 inch thick
½ cup bottled lemon juice
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup oil
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon rosemary, crushed
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2-3 cloves garlic, minced
Place steaks in single layer in shallow pan. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over steaks. Marinate meat 4 hours, turning several times. Broil steak on grill over hot coals. Cook steak to doneness you like turning once. Baste with marinade during broiling. Yield: 8 servings.

Fiesta Style Lamb Chops

Lamb Chops—Fiesta Style

8 lamb rib or loin chops, or 4 shoulder chops, cut ¾ inch thick
2 large tomatoes, cut in half
4 large mushrooms
4 medium zucchini squash
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted

sert broiler pan and rack so the top of chops is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil until browned, about 6 to 8 minutes. Season and turn. Skillet Entree Pairs Sausage, Zesty Sauce

Looking for skillet entrees to serve for supper? Your kitchen will stay cooler than if an oven entree were prepared.

This particular skillet dish is a joy to eat as well as to cook. The meat is spicy pork sausage links and the sauce adapts a flavor from the cookery of the New Orleans region. Basically a zesty Creole sauce, it blends green pepper, onion, celery, canned tomato sauce and seasonings.

Serve pork sausage links—New Orleans—on a mound of white rice, add a tossed salad and rolls, and your main course is complete.

A meat cookery expert points out that sausage links will remain plump and juicy when cooked slowly, covered in a small amount of water and then uncovered and browned.

PORK SAUSAGE LINKS—NEW ORLEANS

Lemon-Cheese Cake Pie Elegant, Rich, Creamy

Newest recipe collector's item is truly worthy of being served under glass! It's elegant, rich, Pie!

Creamy Lemon-Cheese Cake Pie! Difficult to make? Definitely not. In fact, it's as easy as pie, as the old saying goes. The crisp, crunchy crust is created from instant mixing pie crust mix with the flavorsome touch of brown sugar. The heavenly filling is a simple combination of cream cheese, cottage cheese, sugar and eggs and the topping is smooth condensed milk with the added tang of lemon. Garnish with grated lemon rind and strawberries or cherries and the divine dish is complete.

Lemon cheese cake pie will be a year-round favorite, served warm or cold and surely will become a collector's item among pie recipes.

Here is the recipe as created in the Betty Crocker kitchens:
LEMON CHEESE CAKE PIE
1 stick instant mixing pie crust mix

2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 cup water
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon savory
3 cups cooked rice

Place sausage links and 2 tablespoons water in cold frying pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover and brown links. Remove links and pour off drippings. Combine tomato sauce, 1 cup water, onion, green pepper, celery, sugar, Worcestershire sauce and savory. Cook slowly 20 minutes. Add sausage links and cook until heated through. Serve over rice. Six servings.

Americans drank an average of 129 quarts of milk in 1962, about the same as in 1961. Nutrition research and education programs, co-ordinated with advertising and other related promotion programs have helped to maintain milk consumption levels.

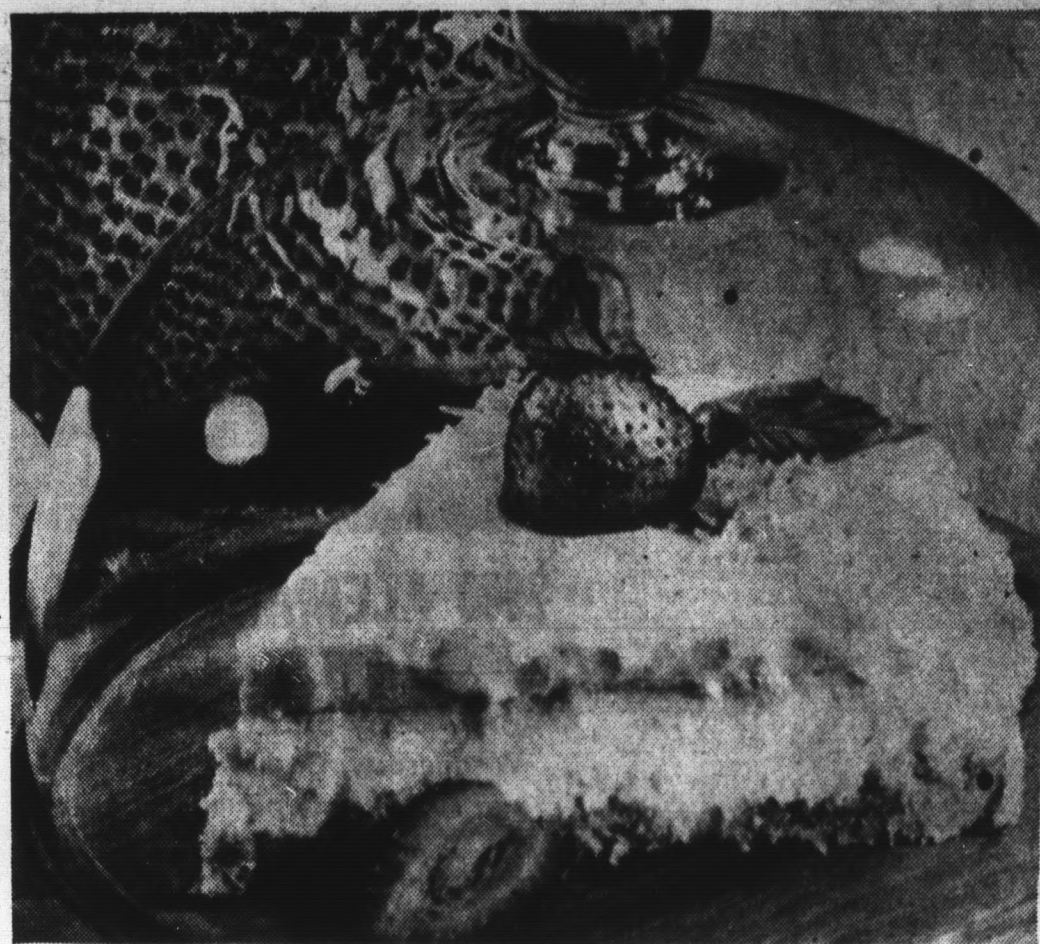

1-3 cup brown sugar (packed)
3 eggs
½ cup granulated sugar
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese
½ cup cottage cheese
1 can (15 oz.) sweetened condensed milk
1-3 cup lemon juice
grated lemon rind

Heat oven to 375 degrees (quick mod.). Crumble pie crust mix and brown sugar together with fingers or fork. Spread evenly in 13x9½x2 inch oblong pan.

Bake 15 minutes. Remove from oven; stir with fork to remove lumps. While still warm, press into 8 inch round layer pan.

Beat eggs until thick and lemon-colored. Beat in sugar gradually. Beat in the cheeses until smooth and thick. Pour into crumble crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Cool slightly. Blend sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice together; spread over top. Garnish with grated lemon rind. Serve warm or cold.

Description: Very similar to a cheese cake accented with a lemon flavor.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM is sure to be this elegant Lemon-Cheese Cake Pie, as tasty and flavorful as it is easy to prepare.

Serve this Fruited Mint Custard. Its milk-made goodness may well serve as a reminder that we can eat our daily quota of milk as well as drink it.

Custard Always Prime Favorite

California's approximately one million cows continue to add over $1 million a day to our state's economy. One of many good reasons why Californians enjoy fine milk products.

Plain or fancy custards are always favorites with or without a reason for celebration. In either case the homemaker can rest assured that custards are a delicious way to include more milk in family meals.

Fruited Mint Custard
Here is a custard that is "plain" to make, yet "fancy" when served. The delicate mint-

Strawberry Cobbler Will Top Season

If you can find a more delicious way of using summer's last strawberries in a family-style dessert, we'd like to know it! Minute Steaks Mashed Potatoes Onion Relish Green Peas Salad Bowl Bread Tray Strawberry Cobbler Beverage

STRAWBERRY COBBLER
1 quart fresh strawberries
2/3 and 1/4 cup sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 egg
3 tablespoons milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Rinse in cold water, hull and drain strawberries; mix with 2/3 cup sugar in a baking dish (10 by 6 by 1 1/4 inches). Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in butter until it is in fine particles. Beat egg and 1/4 cup sugar until thick and ivory-colored; beat in milk and vanilla. Fold into flour mixture; do not stir smooth. Spread over strawberries. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until topping is done through and brown — about 45 minutes; insert cake tester to test topping for doneness. Cool slightly. Wonderful served warm with vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

A Specialty Of the South

A specialty of the South comes into focus. It's an open-faced sandwich spotlighting two foods well known to southern cooks — ham and corn bread.

Something out of the ordinary in sandwiches, this hot and hearty treat reveals meaty slices of cooked ham perched upon corn bread squares and topped with a mushroom-green pea less sauce. The corn bread you'll prepare with ease from a handy packaged mix, and the sauce is ready in a jiffy, thanks to a can of condensed mushroom soup. Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests this sandwich either as a leftover idea or for making from fully-cooked or canned ham.

Southern Ham Sandwich
8 slices cooked ham
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed mushroom soup
1/4 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon onion juice or onion powder
1/4 cup cooked peas
4 corn bread squares (about 4 x 4 inches, split in half)
Warm ham slices. Mix together flavored whipped cream swirled through the custard makes it a gala, yet light, dessert worthy of serving.

1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cup milk
3 egg yolks
1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
6 drops peppermint extract
Few drops green vegetable coloring
Assorted fresh fruits

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in the top of double boiler. Add milk, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until smooth and thickened. Beat egg yolks, gradually add hot milk mixture. Return to top of double boiler and continue cooking and stirring over hot water until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Cool; add vanilla extract. Chill. Just before serving, whip cream; add confectioner's sugar, peppermint and coloring to tint mixture light green. Swirl cream through custard. Serve with or over sliced fresh fruits. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Carrots Frances
Salad Bowl Bread Tray
Fruited Gelatin Beverage
CARROTS FRANCES
2 cups thin rounds carrots, packed

In the clean skillet stir together the cornstarch paste, coriander and orange rind; gradually stir in orange juice; cook and stir over low heat until thickened and clear. Add carrots with grapes; reheat. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

OLD FRIEND
Here's an old friend with a new face... a gravy topped waffled ham and cheese sandwich. Make four sandwiches by placing a slice of ham and cheese in each sandwich. Brush outside of sandwich with 1/4 cup melted butter. Toast in waffle iron at medium heat until lightly browned. In saucepan, heat a 10 1/2-ounce can chicken gravy, stirring now and then. Touch of Flame Is the Difference

How does a famous cook earn her reputation? — Often it is simply by serving one very special dish with a cordon bleu touch to it — an elegant dessert, perhaps, with the tantalizing taste of blended fruit preserves which will be a conversation item whenever good food is discussed.

It's a feather in any woman's cap, of course, to have such fame attached to her culinary efforts. Some women, however, sigh and stick to so-called "plain cooking," convinced that they could never turn out the delicacies that lead to cooking plaudits. Others don't try because they're certain such specialties are too time-consuming for them to undertake with all their other homemaking responsibilities.

Actually, with the help of modern commercially prepared food products, any homemaker can be a best cook, quickly and easily concocting delicious dishes which rival the gourmet creations of a French chef.

Former Villa Hotel Now Sheraton-Villa Motor Inn

FRANK DENNISON, well-known personality in hotel and restaurant circles around the county, will soon be a familiar one to the Peninsula crowds who will be visiting the new Sheraton-Villa Motor Inn (formerly the Villa Hotel), as Mr. Dennison has been appointed the new manager of this spacious site which has been a dine, entertainment, and banquet tradition on the Peninsula for many years. An announcement of the Villa Hotel becoming the Sheraton-Villa Motor Inn was made by Gerard C. Henderson, Sheraton vice president, and J. W. McClellan, president of the Villa Hotel Corporation.

Mr. Dennison plans to make many changes in the operation, plus several in the top personnel. Chef Arnold Bischoff, a Swiss-trained executive chef with hotel experience in outstanding European hotels, is in charge of the kitchen; Billy Tavake and His Samoans, featuring "Princess Tiara," entertain in "Sounds of the Islands" fashion nightly, except Sunday, 12 noon to 2 p.m. fashion shows of the "Styles of Tomorrow" during luncheon; Tuesday through Saturday dining and dancing to the highly entertaining Nob Hill Trio—vocals provided by attractive Cindy Adams; banquets a specialty.

Mr. Dennison's hotel management in his "new home" will reflect a return to the all-but-forgotten old-fashioned values of service and hospitality from a more grand era.

Z. L. LOO AND HIS SON, WADE, can justly be proud of their Charm Garden Restaurant. There have been countless food, beverage, and service raves from readers of this column—and I concur that the Charm Garden is most outstanding in all departments.

If you thought you noticed the well known movie and TV star, Red Buttons, dining and chatting with Nick Gust and Mary Ann Hay at Nick's Pacifica restaurant, the other evening, you were so right. Red likes to stop in and see his pal Nick whenever he's in the area.

Word reaches your Bright Lights that a new nifty will soon debut within a stone's throw of the ocean in the Pacifica sector. Understand it will be a tropical affair—food, beverage and decor-wise. The Sky Deck has a very clever idea in mailing personal menus to its patrons. Keeps them well-informed on the time table, and breakfast, lunch and dinner suggestions.

Pancakes are more than just pancakes at Uncle John's many Pancake Houses. All are prepared from Uncle John's special pancake recipe. Sandwiches, salads, and chili have recently been added to the menu.

It's one happy family at Frank Torres' Montara Beach Hotel—and I do mean family. Seems everyone working here is a cousin to smiling Frank, who imports his "family tree" from Peru.

BILL MALLORY is a "one-man kitchen band" at Schlegel's when it comes to making "music" with pots and pans. He does his own cooking, baking, prepares the salad dressing, and operates the dish washing machine. Don Gardner is in charge of the restaurant and bar at the Piccadilly during the vacation days of Owners Lee and Aileen Warren.

Train "sprinters" can take a coffee break at Bernie Berenson's Silver Spoon. Food service starts at 6 p.m. Roy Blackwood has received many compliments from his dining guests in the Blue Peacock at Kings Bowl in Millbrae. Food credits, says he, go to the kitchen talents of his new Chef Rivers. Low Lehr, the Marina's steakman and golf bug, claims when he misses his drive, he expresses himself to a tree.

"Ecstasy on Ice" at Churchill's in the Berkeley Hotel Claremont is one of the most sparkling shows in the East Bay. It's a gorgeously costumed, expertly skated revue that will have the ice buffs coming back for more. The talent is tops: Eddie Davis and Buddy Scraft, fancy figure skaters; the Cavanaugh's with their thrilling acrobatics and adagio; Tridie's breath-taking juggling on skates; the comedy of Esco LaRue; singing of Brian Avery; and the productions featuring the six cute "Ice-Cubettes." The "Ice Follies" may be gone, but "Ecstasy" lives on.

IF YOU'RE ENTERTAINING out-of-towners on the Peninsula, call Andre Dumont at Burlingame's La Touraine about arranging a special banquet menu for your party. With a few days' notice, chef Maurice Brosier can turn out your own selections in a style that would be a credit to any of the finest restaurants in Paris.

Phil Lehr's downtown Steakery is becoming THE banquet spot of San Fran. Phil has four different banquets, a few nights ago, in four different private dining rooms. The pianobar at Goman's Gay 90s is now open Sunday evenings with ace entertainer Jerry Sharkey in charge of the fun'n songs. Eye-yi-yi-eyetems: The busty postcard of Jeani Moore, the 44-inch stripstar at S.F.'s Moulin Rouge. ... Pancho's Mexican Cafe at Five Points in Redwood City has delicious Mexican delicacies to take out. But you're missing something if you don't take a look at the interior of this colorful restaurant. Don Clever's designing won a national award for Pancho's. ... Must get with Hyatt House Hotel boss, Ed Sullivan, the first of next week. Overheard by Rocca's restaurant co-owner, Louie Bacchini: "Children seldom misquote you. They repeat what you shouldn't have said—word for word."

Ice cream "scoopers" who stop at Doug's Fountain in the Hillsdale Farmers Market International Plaza are, in for an extra treat. Manager Bud Fitzgerald, a juggler of note, flips a scoop of ice cream high in the air and catches it with a cone—not just one scoop, mind you, but nine high, if you like it that way. In case you're watching Bud in one of his demonstrations, the misses, the cone is "on the house." I'll clue you: He seldom misses.

Andy and Ivan Del Rossi invite you to dine at their swank Gold Platter and announce they are again serving on Sundays from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. (vacation is over). Many changes in the decor of this family restaurant, but the same inviting menu. Calves Sweetbreads, saute, with grilled bacon is one of my favorite dishes here. Yes, sir, Zabaione is on the dessert menu.

It's no wonder the early and late-evening cocktail hours are well attended at the Brentwood Lodge—the ember lights that flicker from the immense humming lodge fireplace are as romantic as a "leading lady's smile."

Bodee Cominoli is back from a last-weekend vacation in Lake Tahoe.

"Heard so much about Keno," said Bodee, "that I thought it was time I learned to play."

Result: A winner—and a good one in just three games. I've marked about every number on the card—a few times during my Keno years, and the only thing I got was a stiff neck from watching the Keno board lights flash the "wrong" numbers.

County Ponders Vehicle Taxes

San Mateo county supervisors are considering ordering the levy of an additional half-cent motor vehicle tax but are puzzled about how they could spend the money when they get it.

Supersisors Study Fair Hall Plans

County fair directors, county staff members and the Tanklage Construction company have agreed to a settlement on the ill-fated project to build five new entrance marquees on the Hall of Flowers at the county fairgrounds.

But the county board of supervisors, which must give final approval to the settlement, wants more time to think it over.

It was during the construction of the marquees, prior to this year's fair that workmen discovered glaring faults in the building's construction. Work was ordered halted and the building was closed as unsafe.

Henry Tarratt, county building director, told the board yesterday that the Tanklage firm had agreed to top $16,006 off the contract price of $37,396 as credit for the work that was not completed.

But Supervisor T. Louis Chess suggested that the settlement be held up until a special engineering study now being made is completed. The study is to determine whether the Hall of Flowers can be salvaged or whether it must be torn down.

The levy was authorized this year by the state legislature. It is to be collected by the state only in those counties that adopt specific ordinances ordering it.

The revenues are to be used only for rapid transit purposes and can be spent only by an official transit agency. San Mateo county does not have a rapid transit agency.

The county was withdrawn from the Bay Area transit district. Although a bill allowing the creation of a West Bay district, to include San Mateo county, was passed by the legislature, it was vetoed by the governor.

"What this means, in effect," said Supervisor T. Louis Chess, "is that the governor is telling us to join the Bay Area district."

"This leaves us in a vacuum. Frankly, I am disturbed over the attitude of the state government."

After the opinion that only an official agency can spend the special tax money was given to the board yesterday by District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson, Chess asked if it would be possible to form some sort of interim transit authority pending re-introduction of the West Bay transit bill at the next legislative session.

Sorenson said he doubted that it could be done but told the board he will research the law on the subject.

"If we are going to get into rapid transit," Chess declared, "we ought to start levying this tax and start accumulating funds."

Terra Nova Residents Hit Speed

Terra Nova boulevard residents appeared at Pacifica Safety committee meeting Monday night to complain about speeding traffic and the safety of school children on their street.

Mrs. Kenneth Wulberts, of 1527 Terra Nova boulevard, asked that more crosswalks be painted for children attending Ortega school, and that the present undeveloped sidewalks near the school be completed.

She said that residents have observed considerable speeding on the boulevard and that it is becoming heavily traveled.

Terra Nova boulevard is now a back door to Linda Mar, since it connects Alicante and Linda Mar boulevard with Fessler, Crespi and Sea Bowl drives, leading to the Coast highway.

Chief Neil Tremaine was asked by the Safety committee to get together with Robert Fizer of the Laguna Salada school district to see what corrective measures should be taken.

The committee also heard a request from Mrs. Edie Bly of Pedro Point that a white line be painted on San Pedro road between the Coast highway and Chester way.

Department Heads to Sit In on Orals

The Daly City Personnel board last week voted to permit department heads to sit in on oral interviews of prospective employees in their department. But that's all they can do—sit.

In a policy-setting decision, the board said it would allow the department head at an initial interview, provided he does not take part in either the questioning or the discussion.

The administrators will not be permitted at a promotional hearing, however.

Board member Joseph Schultz objected to the action, saying the department head has a chance to interview the job applicant later once he has been put on the list.

Other board members felt, however, that the administrator would be able to get ideas from listening to the interviews and pursue them in his own interview.

In other action, the personnel board set Friday as a special meeting date to act on the hiring list for "urgently needed," policemen.

Planners Set New Agenda

A request for commercial zoning on property on Geneva avenue between Calgary and Rio Verde streets in Bayside City will be returned to the Daly City planning commission Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the council chambers.

The request met with opposition from Calgary street residents last week.

The commission will also act on three sign requests, two lot variances and construction of an accessory building.

An application for permission to build apartments in a commercial zone at 6644 Mission street was made by Percy Williams and Robert Nizuk, 6630 Mission street.

The lot variances are requested by Edward W. Jose, 82 Grandview avenue and John Neve, 19 East Moltke street. Jose is asking a 52 per cent lot coverage and Neve a 55 per cent coverage.

Driver Hurt In Collision

One person was injured in a two-car collision at East Vista avenue and Hillside boulevard, Daly City, early Thursday afternoon.

Maureen Malloy, 53, of 156 East Vista, one of the drivers, was treated for multiple contusions at Kaiser Foundation hospital in South San Francisco.

Police reported her auto rolled back 75 feet after the collision, careened over a slight embankment and overturned.

The driver of the other auto was identified as John L. Johnston, 20, of San Francisco.

Chains Used In Assault

A group of motorcyclists, using chains and fists, assaulted two men at the Pips Drive-in restaurant at Alameda and Lake Merced boulevards in Daly City Saturday, police reported.

The two men, Edward R. Stuhler, 18, of San Francisco, and Donald R. Edler, 29, a serviceman stationed at Riverside Air Force base, told police the assault occurred inside the restaurant at a counter.

They said they were beaten by five or six youths who left on motorcycles.
